

Army Officer's Plea For Romantic AWOL Backed By 100,000 Ardent Frenchmen

One hundred thousand Frenchmen were wrong. So was Lieutenant Leon Avakian of Newton.

At least, that's what a tough-minded U. S. Army court-martial decided in Verdun, France.

After Wayne Powers, once of Chillicothe, Mo., had pleaded guilty before the court on a charge of war-time desertion, the 100,000 Frenchmen got into the act.

Lieutenant Avakian was in it already. He was co-counsel for Wayne.

With Lieutenant James Singleton, Avakian appeared before the court with eloquent pleas of leniency for Wayne. Lieutenant Avakian told the court that Wayne had spent all of the last 14 years in a prison of his own.

It would be a shame for him to be obliged to leave his five little children and his common-law wife after that.

The court was adamant. It said Wayne must go away for 10 years with army jailers as his keepers. Under the war-time desertion charge Wayne could have been given a maximum sentence of death.

The case which found Lieutenant Avakian serving as defense counsel created quite a cause celebre in France.

They have made quite a to-do about it in the press and on radio and TV. After an broadcast which took the form of an appeal for Wayne, 100,000 Frenchmen flooded the U. S. embassy in Paris with letters demanding his release. The Frenchmen want Wayne returned to Yvette Beause and their five children.

Seems that way back in 1944, Wayne was just another PFC driving a truck for the Army in France. He was 23. One day Wayne's truck disappeared. He was nabbed by M.P.'s and pretty soon he was told he'd have to explain it all to a court-martial.

Things were changing every day at the time. The U. S. was in the process of winning the war in Europe and courts-martial had to wait.

Wayne was being held in a

City-Wide Tennis Tournney Will Open Monday at Burr

The biggest turnout of aspirant tennis stars and the hottest competition ever are expected when the Newton Recreation Department's annual city-wide tennis tournaments get under way Monday at the courts of the Burr Playground.

The girls of both the junior and senior groups will have the courts to themselves on Monday as they battle to decide their finalists.

The boys will take over on Tuesday.

The finals for both boys and girls will be played on Thursday of next week.

All the matches will be played at Burr.

The Newton tournament is one of the oldest of its kind in New England. Many prominent players have participated in the tournaments of the past and the experience they gained in them stood them in good stead through later years on the courts.

Interest in tennis this year has been at a remarkable high in all sections of the city. The Recreation Department urged all playground leaders to enroll as many participants as possible in this year's tournament and the turn-out is expected to be a record-breaker with all playgrounds well represented.

The '57 championships were won by Newton Centre, Cold Spring and Burr playgrounds.

Contestants have been invited to be guests of the Longwood Cricket Club in Chestnut Hill on Newton Day, Aug. 17 - 24. All contestants must contact Joan Lafford at Burr Playground, LA 7-1576, and must be prepared to go as a group under her supervision.

Here are the rules for this year's tournament:

Players may enter One division only—

Girls: Monday, August 11.

1. Juniors—entries may not have reached their 14th birthday as of July 1, 1958.

2. Seniors—entries may not have reached their 17th birthday as of July 1, 1958.

Boys: Tuesday, August 12.

1. Juniors—entries may not have reached their 14th birthday as of July 1, 1958.

Guzzi Blasts School Board On Supt. Pick

Sharp criticism of the Newton School Committee for selecting a Texas educator as the city's new superintendent of public schools instead of making a choice from within the school department, was voiced today by Alfred R. Guzzi, prominent spokesman for city employee groups.

Guzzi declared that the move had an extremely injurious effect upon the morale of Newton school teachers.

"The new superintendent should have been picked from the ranks of the Newton school department," Guzzi maintained.

A member of the Board of Aldermen, without referring directly to the School Committee, asserted that the time is coming when the city will be unable to get competent persons to take municipal jobs "because they will know they can't get promoted."

Alderman Joseph G. Bradley said that whenever an appointment is to be made to a top municipal post in Newton the official or group making the appointment invariably goes outside the city to pick someone to fill the position.

"We have such outstanding citizens right here in our own community that this seems to me to be both an unnecessary and an unwise procedure," Alderman Bradley stated.

"Perhaps the entire city government should re-survey its policies," Bradley declared. "Perhaps we should stand back and

Aldermen Reject Proposal To Establish Speed Zones Along Commonwealth Ave.

Science Award Winner Is Cut In Experiment

Reiner Beukes, 3rd, 18, of 123 Sargent street provided at least a partial answer Sunday to why he was selected earlier this year as one of the top winners of the Westinghouse science awards.

While most other youths his age were out enjoying the weather on the most beautiful Sunday of the summer, he was at home experimenting with his chemistry set.

This became known when he was cut on the hand by shattering glass during the experiment and was taken to the Peter Bent Brigham Hospital by his father for treatment.

Rice School Site Rezoned To Clear Way for New Bank

A proposal that posted speed zones be established along Commonwealth avenue in Newton, between the Weston and Boston lines, was rejected by an 11-7 vote of the Board of Aldermen at their meeting on Monday night.

Mayor Howard Whitmore, Jr., had formally recommended the creation of the speed zones at the suggestion of traffic officials as a means of synchronizing the operation of the traffic signal lights on Commonwealth avenue.

A majority of the Aldermen, however, felt that the plan would have a tendency to encourage motorists to drive at a faster speed than they do at the present time.

Alderman Leo M. Cannon told his fellow members of the Aldermanic Board that the speed limits, which would be established, would be 35 miles an hour in residential sections and 30 miles an hour in business districts.

Opponents of the move, however, expressed the conviction that it would be preferable to maintain the existing system which requires that automobile operators travel at a "reasonable speed."

They voiced fears that the creation of the so-called speed zones, in which motorists legally would be allowed to drive at rates of up to 35 or 30 miles an hour, would result in hazards to the public safety and a larger number of accidents.

In another action of major public importance the Aldermen voted to place the present Rice School, which is soon to be abandoned, in a business "A" zone to clear the way for the erection of a $300,000 bank building on the land where the school now is located.

William H. Rice of 31 Herick road, Newton Centre, chairman of the board of trustees of the Newton Savings Bank, testified at a public hearing Monday that the proposed structure probably would be made the main office of the bank.

An emergency $80,000 appropriation was voted by the Aldermen at this week's session to cover the cost of contemplated drainage work on the new MTA parking lot on Grove street in the Newton Lower Falls section.

An application by Natale and Myron M. Shaana for permission to use their home at 40 Newbrook circle as a nursery school was approved by the Aldermen.

Turned down, however, was a petition for the right to enlarge a gasoline station at 1742 Commonwealth avenue. This action was taken by a decisive 13-4 vote even though the Planning Board had voted to approve the application with three restrictions and the claims and rules committee had voted to okay it with 15 restrictions.

Tomorrow Night Last Chance To Enroll as Voter

A reminder that today and tomorrow are the last days on which persons not yet registered as voters may have their names placed on the city's voting list and qualify to cast ballots in the September primary, was issued today by City Clerk Monte G. Basbas.

Persons who are not enrolled as voters when the rolls are closed at 10 o'clock tomorrow (Friday) night will be ineligible to participate in the primary on Sept. 8, Basbas emphasized.

Basbas announced that his office—room 101 at City Hall—in addition to the regular business hours, will be open from 7 to 9 tonight (Thursday) and from 6 to 10 tomorrow (Friday) night for the convenience of persons desiring to register as voters.

"If you haven't yet enrolled as a voter, do it Thursday or Friday of this week," Basbas urged. "Next Monday will be too late."

Newtonville Stores Plan Back to School Sales Days

The merchants of Newtonville are planning a Back to School Sales Days September 4, 5 and 6, under the direction of Justin Horan, secretary of the Newton Chamber of Commerce.

Heading the committee is Nate Lomis of the Walnut Deli-catessen, who announces that a number of gifts will be awarded, including a television set, an air conditioner and a bridge set.

Stores will display large banners calling customer's attention to the special days and a number of merchants are planning novelties for the event.

Most of important to shoppers will be the tremendous merchandise values that will be offered by all participating merchants.

Buyers are contracting their wholesalers and suppliers to procure scores of money saving items.

Back to school time, always means a strain on the family budget, where a number of children have to be outfitted. It is with this thought in mind that

NFD Has NOT OK'd Safety Devices Sold Door-to-Door

Fire Chief Frederick A. Perkins, Jr., has issued the following statement:

"Due to several serious fires throughout this area, there have been numerous safety appliance salesmen and saleswomen canvassing homes for the sale of such appliances.

"Some of these sales people claim that they have credentials from the fire department and that their particular device has been approved by the fire department.

"This is not the truth.

"The Newton Fire Department has not issued any letters or other certifications to anyone selling such items.

"Many of these devices are well worth having in a home, for the early detection of fire.

"However, caution should be taken in the selection and purchase of such safety equipment to be sure that it is reliable and will serve the purpose for which it is designed in an emergency.

"The Newton Fire Prevention Bureau always welcomes inquiries concerning all matters pertaining to fire safety and fire prevention.

"If you are concerned about your fire safety, we will do all we can to help you. Just call BI 4-0030."

Four Are Hurt In Collisions

Four persons were injured in separate automobile accidents in Newton recently, both of which involved collisions between two vehicles.

Hurt in an accident Tuesday afternoon at Centre and Ward streets were Beatrice D. Landers, 176 Church street, the operator of one of the cars, her mother, Mrs. Devilla Landers, 81, same address, and Bennett Serkin, 19, 535 Ward street, the other operator. All were taken to Newton-Wellesley Hospital by police.

Police said both cars entered the intersection at the same time. The operator of the Landers' vehicle was treated for injuries to the leg and chest, her mother for a fractured hip, and Serkin for injuries to the arm and leg.

In an earlier accident, cars driven by William J. Ewing, 27 Cummings road and James W. Kyle, 29 Valley Spring road, both Newton, collided Friday at the intersection of Lowell avenue and Otis street.

Mr. Kyle was taken to Newton-Wellesley Hospital with back injuries.

POLITICAL HIGHLIGHTS

By JAMES G. COLBERT
Former Boston Post Political Editor

Political Spotlight Centered On Democratic Atty. Gen. Race

The battle for the Democratic nomination for Attorney General, which caused most of the tumult and furor at the Democratic convention, will again be the center of political attention in the September primary.

In contrast to the uproarious fight waged in Boston's Mechanics Building a month and a half ago, however, the primary contest between Boston City Councillor Edward J. McCormack, Jr., and former Governor's Councillor Endicott (Chub) Peabody of Cambridge thus far has been a staid, unexciting affair.

One explanation may be the decisive margin by which McCormack captured the convention endorsement on the fourth and final ballot at the conclave and the subsequent withdrawal of ex-Representative Joseph D. Ward of Fitchburg who had been involved in a three-way struggle with McCormack and Peabody.

A more solid and specific reason for the comparative quiet surrounding the Attorney General race is that McCormack, running with the endorsement of the Democratic convention, has declined to be drawn into a public controversy with Peabody.

McCormack has concentrated on pressing his own campaign and selling his own candidacy and has stolidly disregarded the thrusts Peabody periodically has directed at him. He has adopted the air of a man who is determined to speak no ill of his opponent and will not be swerved from that intent by any provocation.

His political strategy is clear. McCormack believes, as do most political observers, that he is out in front in the race, and that Peabody is confronted with the problem of coming from behind.

stockade to wait. He escaped. He found his way to Yvette. They'd met before. He was sure Yvette would comfort and so lace him while he figured out what to do next.

Wayne was listed as a deserter. Back home in Chillicothe, Wayne's wife waited until long after the war for some word from her GI soldier. Then she asked and obtained a divorce. She, too, charged desertion.
No one knew what became of Wayne for a long time. None but the people of the little village of Mont d'Origny near the Belgian Border. And they saw nothing much of Wayne. He became a virtual prisoner inside the house. Yvette went to work in a textile mill.

Five babies came along. They were named in order — Dorothy, Tilly, Douglas, Harry and Freddy.
Last March an automobile accident occurred in front of the Powers-Beluse menage. There appeared to be no witnesses. Then one of the officers saw a pair of eyes peeping through the shutters of the nearby house.
"Maybe," said the officer,

the owner of those eyes has seen something."

Subsequent inquiry developed the little truck incident back in the days of the war and of the escape from the stockade. Wayne had ventured out of the Mount d'Origny house only in the evening. He never went anywhere. He just minded the children.

Lieutenant Awakian stressed that in his argument for leniency from the court-martial.

So did the 100,000 Frenchmen. But it was no go. Unless a review board overturns the sentence Wayne must begin a new life — as a guest of the U. S. government.

What's to become of Yvette and the children? That's what the 100,000 Frenchmen want to know.

Alderman Bradley said that if the municipal department heads are doing their own jobs properly they should be training the men below them to assume and maintain leadership.

Mr. Guzzi asserted that if school personnel and other employees in the municipal government are to be passed over when appointments are being made the quality of the school system and of the public service provided for the city of Newton is certain to deteriorate.

"Newton is supposed to have one of the best, if not the best, public school system in the United States," Guzzi pointed out. "It is impossible for me to believe that it did not contain one or more persons who could have done an outstanding job as superintendent of schools," Guzzi said.

"If that was the case — and I don't believe it was — then we had a one-man school department."

"If it wasn't the case, then the new superintendent should have been picked in Newton, not in Texas," Guzzi stated. Meanwhile, The Graphic learned that Eric N. Dennard of Waco, the new superintendent of public schools, has been told by the School Committee that he will be allowed to pick his own assistant superintendent.

The assistant superintendentcy was left vacant when Dr. Charles O. Richter resigned to take a position as superintendent in a small town in New York State.

Newton Surgeon Participates In Operation in Mid-Atlantic

Dr. William F. Cotting of 243 Park street, Newton, assisted the surgeon of the French luxury liner Ile de France in an emergency operation on the high seas. The operation was accredited with saving the life of a seaman, who had been taken gravely ill from a freighter to the operating room of the liner.

The Newton surgeon was returning to this country from a visit abroad the Ile de France when he learned that the liner was moving 350 miles off her course in answer to a mercy call.

From the Dutch freighter Soestdyk, Captain Bene LeBerre had received a disaster call. The freighter bound from New York to Rotterdam advised Captain LeBerre that a member of its crew was in critical condition.

The Ile de France swung off its course and reached the site of the freighter. The ailing seaman, William Van Heck, 40, was brought aboard the liner and Dr. Cotting joined the ship's surgeon R. Michel Delf-son. They diagnosed appendicitis and decided immediate surgery was needed. After the appendectomy the doctor's expressed the belief that the appendix would have burst within about three hours.

The Ile de France brought the patient through to New York where he was transferred to a hospital.

Political Highlights

McCormack also is obviously endeavoring to avoid opening any wounds or causing any rifts within the Democratic party which would impair his chances of winning election in November.

All the indications are that McCormack is more strongly positioned than he was two years ago.

In 1956 he withdrew from the competition at the Democratic convention after two ballots. Now he is carrying the endorsement of the 1958 conclave.

Two years ago, he was making his first State-wide run. This time he is profiting from having been over the State before and is seeking to avoid any repetition of the mistakes in his initial venture.

No one in McCormack's camp or outside it is belittling Peabody as a candidate. The fact is that Peabody is a substantial and sturdy contender who cannot be viewed lightly.

Peabody was the low man at the convention, but he had about as fanatical a band of supporters as this writer has seen in a quarter of century of politics.

If they cause anywhere near the clamor during the primary campaign that they created in Mechanics Building, they're certain to command some attention.

A big majority of the leaders in the ADA also are backing Peabody, and they may make their weight felt, especially if the primary vote proves to be light.

This is a fight which the political experts will be following carefully for some indication of how the victor is likely to fare in the showdown battle he will wage next autumn with Governor's Councillor Christian A. Herter, Jr.

Withholding Tax Measure Seen As Possible Campaign Issue

Governor Furecolo, in resubmitting his withholding tax bill to the Legislature only three days after the measure had been defeated in the State Senate, must have been motivated by one of two purposes.

1. Either the Governor believes there is some chance he might win approval of the proposal on his third try.

2. Or he is seeking to set up one of the major issues for his campaign for reelection.

State House observers were surprised in two ways when the Senate last week applied the axe to the withholding bill and killed it for the second time this session. They had felt that the Governor had at least an even chance of gaining enactment of the measure, and they believed that if the bill were rejected the vote would be much closer than it proved to be.

Actually, the final vote on the proposal was misleading. Three or four Senators, who were recorded against the bill, probably would have voted the other way if their votes would have resulted in the passage of the measure. One Senator absented himself when the vote was being taken.

But unless the Governor does some political trading it now appears that at the very most he is not likely to be able to line up more than 19 or 20 votes for the measure. Even if he were to reach a total of 20 the bill would be defeated on a tie vote unless one of the opponents of the proposal were prevailed upon to take a walk.

The conclusion, therefore, is that Furecolo thinks his withholding proposal may be an effective campaign issue and is now building it up by a third attempt to secure its passage.

It would not be at all surprising if the Governor were striving to maneuver himself into a position where he can accuse the Republican-controlled Senate of obstructionist tactics and of beating down every proposal he makes while offering no constructive ideas as an alternative.

One certain thing is that Furecolo is presenting himself as a Governor who doesn't give up quickly or discourage easily.

Democratic Treasurer Fight Is Strange Sort of Contest

The only other State-wide contest to be decided in the primary—the race for the Democratic nomination for State Treasurer—is a strange sort of fight which occurs only when an unusual candidate of the stamp of State Treasurer John F. Kennedy is involved.

Whether this will be a two-man or a three-man struggle depends on the outcome of a protest Mayor William G. Shaughnessy of Woburn has filed against the nomination papers of Framingham Selectman Michael J. Ward.

If Shaughnessy's allegations are upheld by the State Ballot Law Commission and Ward's nomination signatures are disqualified, it will become a two-man contest between Shaughnessy and Kennedy. If Ward remains on the ballot, it will be a three-way fight.

Shaughnessy obviously believes he would have a better chance of besting Kennedy in a two-man race. Most of the political seers are disposed to concur in that opinion.

Treasurer Kennedy, who is in a class by himself as a politician—if politician is the correct word to use in describing him—does not dispute the judgment.

However, Kennedy declares that while he wishes no harm to the political aspirations of Selectman Ward, he would not be at all displeased if he were to meet Mayor Shaughnessy in a two-man contest.

That doesn't mean, Kennedy explains, that he necessarily believes he would have a better chance of winning with only two candidates in the field rather than three. It's simply, he adds, that he has never run in a two-man primary race, and he's curious to see how he would make out.

Mayor Shaughnessy is putting on a vigorous and fairly colorful campaign, employing all the political trappings, including a sound truck which refers to Treasurer Kennedy as "The Pretender."

Kennedy, who can be colorful while trying not to be, is campaigning by remaining on his job from 9 in the morning until 5 or later at night. He doesn't intend to do any electioneering during business hours except for any goodwill he might build up by performing his duties.

"If a candidate for reelection is running around the State, the people are likely to wonder who is minding the store," observes Kennedy.

Treasurer Kennedy doesn't take any vacation. So far this year he has taken off two days. One of those days was last week when he stayed home to do some work. He was chagrined and disturbed the next day to learn that several people had stopped in to see him while he was absent. So he's taking no more days off.

Kennedy doesn't intend to try to match the oratory of Mayor Shaughnessy or, for that matter, anyone else. He plans to make no speeches in the primary. He declares that if he wins renomination, he may make two speeches in the final election campaign but that the number might be reduced from two to one.

Asked if he plans any trips to other parts of the State for vote-getting purposes, Treasurer Kennedy replied that he intends to take his wife on a weekend to Williamstown to see some relatives but that it would be a non-political excursion.

Other politicians, planning television appearances, advertising campaigns, rallies, house parties and stumping tours, shake their heads in wonderment as they read and hear Kennedy's ideas on campaigning. Then they get out election records for 1954 and 1956 and examine once more the primary and election vote totals he polled.

11th Hour Appeal to Register As Voters Made by McLaughlin

An appeal to all eligible citizens not yet enrolled as voters to register before the deadline Friday night of this week, was issued today by City Councillor Edward F. McLaughlin, Jr., of Jamaica Plain, Democratic candidate for Congress in the 10th congressional district.

McLaughlin emphasized that persons whose names do not appear on the rolls of enrolled voters when the lists are closed Friday night (Aug. 8) will be unable to cast ballots in the Sept. 9 primary.

He also declared that some 20-year-old boys and girls, who will celebrate their 21st birthday on or before Sept. 9, do not realize that they can register now even though they are not yet 21.

The Councillor also pointed out that women who were married during 1957 must register again under their married names.

"If you haven't yet registered as a voter, don't put it off any longer," McLaughlin urged. "Next Monday will be too late. Friday of this week is the last day on which it is possible to register for the September primary."

He asserted that any eligible person who neglects to register and vote can hardly complain about the quality of government he gets after shirking his own duty as a citizen.

"Casting a ballot is one of our great duties and privileges as free American citizens," Councillor McLaughlin stated. "It is not one we can afford to neglect or treat lightly, and it surely is not one we can leave for someone else to perform."

"If you are not enrolled as a voter, please register while there is still time."

Anthony Davis

Take one innocent smile which conceals the shrewdness of a tycoon and one chubby physique and you have a much more than a throw in much derivate will. This recipe produces Alfred Hitchcock's famous 12-14 million people each week on TV. He badgers the sponsor, pokes fun at the commercials, and even teases the audience. When Bristol-Myers, his sponsor, asked him to introduce commercials he agreed to do it. In his own sardonic way, Bristol-Myers agreed to let him try it. He tried it. People loved it. But, observe that while he hoots quietly at the institution of the commercial, he never pokes fun at the products themselves.

As a director, with a background of creating suspense in motion pictures, Hitchcock is quite unique because he can also produce, write, edit, and create sets. Approximately one-third of his time is given to TV chores including over 200 appearances as emcee for Alfred Hitchcock Presents . . . several of these plays are filmed in a day and are shown here and abroad. Bristol-Myers is convinced that we watch and listen and enjoy. So they've agreed to sponsor him again next fall for the fourth year. And we would like to convince you, by demonstrating our satisfaction in our goal. Please remember, now particularly for room air-conditioners. If you do not have an air-conditioner now is the time to call up for one—we have the lowest prices in town on Pedders!

Highlanders Tie Toros, Hold 1st

The Highlanders, who currently hold first place in the Newton Babe Ruth League, battled second place Toros to a scoreless deadlock Monday night at the Newton Highlands Playground. The Toros still have a slim chance of taking the lead, however, as they have two games left to play while the Highlanders only have one left.

Stan Gagin was outstanding as he pitched two-hit ball for the Highlanders and he really seemed to be walking away with the game as he put down the first 11 men to face him. Mike Lihman fired a five hitter for Toros.

Newton Centre was led to a 7-5 victory over the Boys' Club by Jack Shaw's triple and single in a league game at Allison Park.

Johnny Fitzpatrick stole home as part of a triple steal as St. Bernard's beat Corpus Christi 6-4 at the Albermarle Playground.

Jean Speare Is Married To G. P. Canellos

On July 27, the Greek Orthodox Cathedral of the Annunciation in Boston was the scene of the ceremony which united in marriage Miss Jean Helen Speare and George Peter Canellos. The bride is the daughter of Dr. and Mrs. George S. Speare, of Newton; the groom's parents are Mr. and Mrs. Peter Canellos of Boston.

The 4 p.m. ceremony was performed by Rev. John Zanetos, with Paul Solovikos as organist. A dinner at the Commonwealth Country Club followed the ceremony.

Miss Cynthia Speare was maid of honor for her sister who selected a white gown with chantilly lace bodice, sweetheart neckline outlined in seed pearls and a silk illusion full skirt with appliques of matching lace over satin. Her chapel-length train was made of lace. Her headpiece was of white satin and velvet leaves, caught to an elbow-length French, silk illusion veil and she carried a cascade of white roses, stephanotis and trailing ivy.

Miss Alexandra Dracos of Scarsdale, N. Y., and Mrs. Robert McFarland of Boston served as bridesmaids; Miss Diane Speare was junior bridesmaid for her sister. George Rozes, of Newport, R. I., was best man, and the ushers were included James Barton of Bradford, Vermont, George Boyle of Worcester and Larry Stathopoulos of Malden. The bride's father gave her in marriage.

The new Mrs. Canellos was graduated from Dana Hall School and is a Phi Beta Kappa alumna of Wellesley College. She received her Master's Degree from the Harvard Graduate School of Education in 1958 where she belonged to Pi Lambda Theta. Mr. Canellos studied at Boston Latin School and was graduated cum laude from Harvard University; he is presently attending Columbia University College of Physicians and Surgeons, at which school he is a third year student.

Accurate RE Tax Estimates Needed In Vet Home Buys

Lenders and builders in the GI home loan program should make sure that reasonably accurate tax estimates are given to veteran-buyers and reported to the Veterans Administration. Manager William J. Blake of the Boston VA regional office said today.

In some areas, he explained, lenders and builders have erroneously estimated real estate taxes and special assessments when negotiating with veteran-buyers, and when submitting loan applications to VA.

By this practice, Blake said, the veteran is faced with meeting a substantially higher monthly payment shortly after closing the loan than he originally was informed he would have to pay.

In some cases, the increased payment is so much higher, that, if it were known prior to approving the loan, he said, the VA would have rejected the application because of the veteran's insufficient income.

The loan also may be placed in jeopardy due to the borrower's inability to meet the increased payment, Blake added.

Even though exact amounts of real estate taxes and assessments may not be available, accurate estimates may be obtained by checking with local taxing authorities or by comparing nearby property, he said.

If "underestimates" are intentional to qualify the borrower for credit or to induce the sale, administrative sanctions against the lender or builder, could result, Blake said.

Gasoline Can Be Treacherous

Cleansing Agent Warns Chief

Because it's versatile and effective, gasoline has come into many household uses these days. It's no longer just something which runs the family automobile. And with the familiarity of handling has come a bit of contempt, or at least a lack of wholesome respect for its life-taking potential, according to Fire Chief Frederick A. Perkins, Jr.

The chief cites a couple of actual stories to emphasize his point.

Story No. 1 — In mid-west a woman who often lectured before audiences on fire prevention decided to clean a pair of white gloves with gasoline. She followed her own advice. Never use gasoline for cleaning purposes inside the house.

She took the gasoline container and the gloves outside to do the job. She thought that was safe. No chance for the gasoline vapor to be ignited by some exposed flame or spark in the house.

To hasten the drying of the gloves she rubbed her hands together vigorously as she wore the gloves. There was a flash. Flames enveloped her gloved hands and clothing. She died a short time later from the burns.

The rubbing had created a static spark — just enough to explode the gasoline vapor.

Story No. 2 — In New Jersey a woman was cleaning with gasoline in the kitchen of her home. Her daughter came in,

MEMBERSHIP CAMPAIGN is now underway at Temple Reyim in Newton. Photo shows new Temple building on Washington street.

Temple Reyim Is Conducting Campaign for New Members

One-hundred and fifty committee workers attended a barbecue supper at the new Temple in Newton on July 31 to officially kick-off Temple Reyim's 1958-59 membership drive.

Speakers at the affair were Myron Idelson and Manny Rosenthal, membership co-chairmen, and Paul Goldstein, president of the Temple.

Actual solicitation of prospective members began last Monday, and the campaign will be highlighted by "New Membership Nights" scheduled on Monday, August 11, and Thursday, August 14. On both these evenings, the membership committee and Temple leaders will be on hand at the new building to personally register new members and to serve as hosts for those who wish to tour the Temple. Hebrew and Sunday School registration will also be accepted on both evenings.

Temple Reyim has just completed its new building at 1860 Washington street, Newton. Services are conducted in the conservative tradition, with Manuel Zymelman serving as cantor. Both the Hebrew School and Sunday School are staffed by well-trained faculties under the direction of Principal Benjamin Boyer, and the Temple, itself, offers the finest facilities for religious, spiritual and social needs for the entire family. Serving as captains in the current membership drive are Investigations are being made by Newton police and the State Fire Marshal's office to find the persons who allegedly set fire to the new addition to the Hamilton School in Newton Lower Falls early Sunday afternoon.

The explosion-punctuated blaze which caused $2500 damage to the nearly-completed wing scheduled to open Sept. 8 was of incendiary origin, according to Fire Chief Frederick A. Perkins, Jr.

New Traffic Lights To Be Installed on Commonwealth Ave.

A contract for the installation of additional traffic signal lights along Commonwealth avenue to handle the increased travel moving to and from the Massachusetts toll road, was awarded this week by the city purchasing department.

The new lights on the heavily travelled avenue are to be placed at Ash street in Auburndale, Waltham street and Lodge road in West Newton and at Washington street and Centre avenue in Newton.

The work is to be done by the Municipal Signal and Supply Company of Roxbury which submitted a low bid of $4011. There were two other bidders.

When these lights have been installed and placed in use, two further changes will be necessary in order to synchronize the lights.

Fingold to Start Campaign 2 Months After Convention

Attorney General Fingold will begin campaigning for the Governorship this coming weekend, according to his office.

That would mean that he will be starting his drive for election just about two months after he was endorsed for Governor at the Republican pre-primary convention in Worcester.

Political experts differ in their opinions and estimates as to the extent to which Fingold's chances of attaining the Governorship have been set back by the delay in getting his campaign underway.

One group of political analysts believe that Fingold has been placed under a definite handicap because of the time he has lost—time he cannot get back.

A second school of thought is that any loss Fingold has suffered from the lapse in his campaign is offset by the fact that he has not been involved in controversies and consequently has not been deprived of any potential support by antagonizing a substantial number of voters.

Those who hold that opinion believe that the time Fingold has lost would not be of major importance—if the Attorney General swings soon into an aggressive, hard-hitting, energetic campaign.

This outlooker feels that Attorney General Fingold has lost some ground because of the period of inactivity since the Republican convention. How serious that loss is probably depends on the future trend of the campaign.

Governor Furcolo announced that he would abstain from any campaigning while Attorney General Fingold

3 Teen-Agers Arrested After 70 MPH Chase

Three teen-age Newton school boys, two 15 and one 14 years of age, were taken into custody by police following a 70-mile-an-hour chase through Newton Highlands early Sunday morning.

The three youths, riding in a stolen car, tried unsuccessfully to elude the police who were seeking to overtake them. According to police, the three boys took an automobile owned by Kathleen W. Gale of 30 Chase street, Newton Centre. The machine was parked at her home when the youths climbed into it and drove away.

Patrolmen James J. McCarthy and Edward J. Herrick ordered the boys to stop as they passed through the intersection of Carver and Woodward streets.

Instead of obeying the order, the boy driving the car stepped harder on the gas pedal and street.

The two patrolmen jumped into their cruising car and gave chase.

With the automobile in which they were riding careening along at high speed, the three youths raced about two miles before police finally overtook them at Oak and Needham streets in Newton Upper Falls.

Taken back to the police station, the boys were turned over to their parents but will be arraigned in the juvenile session of the Newton district court.

First Beneficiaries of Fund Founded by Governor Furcolo

Seven students from the Newton area were among 205 young men and women who this week received scholarships totalling $91,950 from the new Massachusetts Scholarship Foundation.

They were given grants ranging from $200 to $800 apiece to help finance their college education. The average stipend was $400. Each of the seven will enter the college of his or her choice next month.

Announcement of the scholarship awards was made in a statement issued jointly by former Supreme Court Chief Justice Stanley A. Qua, president of the Foundation, and Governor Foster Furcolo, founder and a trustee of the group.

Students from the Newtons selected for the first awards given by the newly organized foundation are:

Newtonites Have $10 Million In Motor Vehicles

There are more automobiles in Newton than ever before. And the denizens of the city's garages are more costly than at any previous time in history.

That's one of the conclusions you can draw from the total figures after the Board of Assessors completed work on the largest motor vehicle excise tax commitment ever received by the city from the State.

The total number of excise bills sent out to Newton motor vehicle owners thus far this year is 13,984. The represents total value of motor vehicles at $10,196,540. In terms of taxes it means a take of $613,177.88.

"Financial Mess" Bars State College Plan, Claims Gibbs

The State's "present mess" does not make it possible for the Commonwealth to assume an additional $20 million-a-year expense, Senator Donald L. Gibbs of Newton told the House Committee on ways and means at the State House.

Even though the money would be earmarked for such a praiseworthy cause, as expanded educational facilities, Gibbs asserted that the State's fiscal condition under the present administration would make its commitment out of the question.

He appeared before the committee at a hearing called on a bill designed to carry out the provisions of Governor Furcolo's $111 million education program and the establishment of community colleges.

Senator Gibbs attacked the measure because, he said, it did not spell out a "self-liquidation" plan for operating the regional institutions of higher learning. He said he fears that tuition would be limited to $100-a-year. "And the State is going to be stuck with the difference," he warned.

"Where's the money coming from?" asked Gibbs. "Under our present financial mess, we cannot afford another $20 million expense a year."

Gibbs proposed creation of a new 15-member regional community college board, "that can

Hearing on B&A Petition of Local Interest, Aug. 25

A public hearing will be held before the Public Utilities Commission at the State House, Aug. 25 on a petition of the Boston & Albany to halt three trains on its Boston to Albany run.

The petition is of interest to Newton residents because all three of the trains now make regular stops at the Newtonville station.

The trains include one which presently reaches Albany at 10:30 a.m. (EST) on a run from South Station with stops at Trinity Place, Newtonville, Framingham, Worcester, Palmer, Springfield and Pittsfield.

The road also wishes to drop a train which leaves Albany at 3:30 a.m. (EST) and arrives at 8:40 a.m. This train makes six stops including Newtonville.

The third train which the road would cancel leaves Albany at 9:40 a.m. and reaches Boston at 2:50 p.m. with seven stops including Newtonville.

The hearing will be held in Room 166 at the State House and will get under way at 10 a.m.

Stiff Competition in Battles For District I Team Crowns

With competition so stern that not a single playground was able to come up with a double-winning team, the championship titles in the District I (Newtonville-Nonantum area) were decided in hot, down-to-the wire contests.

The title teams will compete against the champions of the other three districts for the city-wide crowns. District I playgrounds which produced winners were Horace Mann, Boyd, Carr, Hawthorn and Victory.

Pres. Taylor Sees Need For More Educational Facilities Doubts NJC Would Be Taken

The average cost of a college education in Massachusetts is about twice as much as any other state in the Union, in the opinion of President Walter M. Taylor of the Newton Junior College.

The reason, he points out, is that a lot of "prestige colleges with high tuitions are located here and that there are comparatively few institutions for higher learning like University of Massachusetts in the state."

President Taylor expressed his views to the Commission to Adult State Needs and the joint legislative committee on education of which Senator Donald L. Gibbs of Newton is chairman.

The NJC head outlined his ideas while advocating more junior colleges for the State.

"I am in favor," he said, "of any action that would produce junior colleges."

"Somebody's got to do something. Whether it's going to take $20 million is the question. Private colleges have priced themselves out of the reach of too many fairly able young men and women."

He said that he would recommend that junior colleges be established in those regions which are "ready" for them. He go off on its own tangent and not be controlled by the State education board."

Representative Irene K. Thresher of Newton called Furcolo's bill a "political way of solving the education problem." "My plea to you," she told the committee, "is to continue to improve the education system as we are doing."

Representative Thresher said the plan called for establishment of regional junior colleges in parts of the State not covered by State teachers' colleges. She estimated that Furcolo's plan would require a $500 tuition charge "otherwise this is political." She said the Governor's phrase of "negligible cost" just doesn't make sense. She asserted that the Governor's office was advocating "something new that we know we cannot finance."

Elks Gather To Aid Foundation

Newton Elks will be well represented at the Red Sox-Yankee baseball game Sunday in Fenway Park on the occasion of the annual program in which more than 1500 Elks are gathered under auspices of the Massachusetts Elks Foundation.

Benefitting from the event is the Elks National Foundation, through which the order carries on much of its educational and social welfare work. Louis Dubin, state vice-president, is chairman of the area committee in charge of tickets. Thomas L. Coppinger of Newton, state secretary, is also serving.

declared that junior colleges could be set up almost immediately on Cape Cod and the area north of Boston.

He suggested that facilities already exist on the Cape at the old Marlinton Academy in Hyannis and the recently vacated Falmouth High School building. Mr. Taylor doubts that the Newton Junior College will become a part of the State system. "They are talking in terms of much larger facilities than we have here," he said. "There is a need for a regional college in this area, but we and Quincy are meeting this need." "However, if a good regional college was set up in this area, I don't think Newton would mind." He pointed out, too, that the bill calling for the creation of new State college facilities specifically provides it "shall not be construed as discriminating against those junior colleges that already exist."

John L. Saltonstall Challenges Opponents to Discuss Issues

John L. Saltonstall, Jr., candidate for the Democratic nomination for Congress in the 10th congressional district, announced that the Rev. Robert F. Drinan, S.J., dean of the Boston College Law School, has agreed to serve as moderator of a proposed political quiz show featuring Saltonstall and his two opponents in the Democratic primary.

The three candidates for the Democratic nomination for Congress, Saltonstall said, have been invited by Jerry Williams of radio station WMEX to appear on Williams' program next Monday night from 10 p.m. to 1 a.m. to discuss national issues.

Saltonstall said that so far he is the only one who has accepted the invitation and that his two opponents—City Councilor Edward F. McLaughlin, Jr., and Joseph J. Mulhern, Jr.—have not yet replied to it.

"Apparently my two opponents are not interested in discussing issues, but rather prefer to run a popularity contest, testing who can shake the most hands," asserted Saltonstall.

"Now, I'm willing to match anybody in shaking hands, but I think the people of the 10th District want more than that from their candidates. They deserve to know how we stand on the great national issues of the day—on the high cost of living, the recession and unemployment, the Middle East situation, and on our national defense."

Saltonstall said he will appear on the program "even if I have to face two empty chairs."

Prizes and Novelties for Back to School Sales Days

Further details of the Back to School Sales Days being sponsored by Newtonville merchants were discussed at a meeting held Monday afternoon with Nate Lomis of the Walnut Delicatessen.

Presiding was Justin Horan, secretary of the Newton Chamber of Commerce, who is directing the sale, which will be held September 4, 5 and 6.

Phillip Bram reported that Newtonville merchants were showing great interest in the coming sale and were making plans to secure outstanding values.

A number of valuable prizes will be given away during the sale, including a television set, an air conditioner and a bridge set.

Stores will display large banners calling customers' attention to the special days and a number of merchants are planning novelties for the event.

Most of importance to shoppers will be the tremendous merchandise values that will be offered by all participating merchants.

Buyers are contacting their wholesalers and suppliers to procure scores of money saving items.

Back to school time, always means a strain on the family budget, where a number of children have to be outfitted. It is with this thought in mind that Newtonville merchants are going all out to find real values in clothing and shoes for the youngsters, who will be starting another school year in September.

Back to School Days will be a real bonanza for thrifty shoppers. Watch this newspaper for further information about this outstanding event by Newtonville merchants.

Registrar Riley

Few public officials in memory have put any more time, effort and energy into their job than has Registrar of Motor Vehicles Clement A. Riley of Norwood.

Riley assumed his post as head of the Registry at a time when a record number of automobiles were traveling the highways of Massachusetts and were causing a record number of accidents with the attendant toll of dead and injured.

The Registrar has worked in determined fashion and against seemingly almost hopeless odds in an attempt to stem the rising tide of highway mishaps.

He himself has been on the job from 9 o'clock one morning until 1 a.m. the next until other persons have wondered at his ability to stand up under the punishing schedule he has set for himself.

Thousands of automobile operators have learned the hard way that Riley is deadly serious in his determination that the safety laws of the Commonwealth must be observed — for the sake of the motorists themselves.

If you haven't already done so, this is a good time to begin cooperating in Registrar Riley's campaign to protect your life while you're driving an automobile.

Worthwhile Investment

Those apple-pie charts designed to reveal how each tax dollar is spent show only a silver wedge for the maintenance, equipment and staffing of the community's various playgrounds.

However, the total expended each year as compared with that of the so-called "good-old days" is quite an item.

It runs to many thousands of dollars as compared with a few hundred or nothing at all in our early days.

There was a time when a few swings for the smaller children and the staking out of regulation baseball diamond for the older youngsters constituted the taxpayer's contribution to so-called public recreation.

Usually the cash which caused the most debate and even a hassle now and then was that devoted to the hiring of a band for a Saturday afternoon concert.

It all made for simple bookkeeping and it wasn't too great a strain on the municipal budget.

In recent years the playground programs have become one of the most important on the annual agenda.

They still have the swings for the smaller children. They still stake out the regulation diamonds. Beyond that no comparison exists.

It costs money. It's money well-spent.

For one thing it takes off the streets a large number of children for a good period of time. How many lives have been saved by that fact alone can neither be estimated or even wildly guessed.

Beyond that, the playground system as we know it today serves in no small measure to bridge those weeks in the year when the schools are unable to exercise that certain modicum of discipline every child must know.

The little girl who turns out a not-so-good pot-holder in the arts and crafts class isn't obliged to stand in the corner because she paid ill attention to her instructor. She's not chastised at all. Yet, she knows, whether she admits it or not, that it would have been better to have paid attention.

It's difficult to evaluate the place of the playground in the modern scheme of things. It's not like school where report cards offer a pretty good index on the progress of the child.

Yet, consider the possible results if the playground items on the budget were pared to the bone as some taxpayers are wont to argue. Or even cut out entirely, as many secretly believe they should be.

The children of today are basically the same as the children of the generations who have preceded them.

They would find places to play even if there were no playgrounds.

If they were left on their own, they would find the mischief that the healthy child will always find when time hangs heavily on his hands.

They'd court the dangers of the un-supervised swimming spot; they'd ignore the risks that traffic offers today. This summer those in charge of our playgrounds, from top to bottom, have done a fine job.

Their work and the very real benefits the children have obtained underscores the need of those playgrounds.

They've justified the expenditure for their maintenance and operation.

It's money well spent.

Political Highlights

was absent from the political firing line because of illness, except for commitments he had already made and couldn't break. And the Governor has asserted that he, too, will swing into action this weekend.

Technically, Governor Furcolo has refrained from doing anything which would be considered political campaigning, in the strict sense of the word, while Fingold was ill.

However, he has participated in some pretty big informal, non-political affairs, including a birthday party attended by 600 persons on the lawn of his home in Longmeadow, which presumably were scheduled before Fingold was stricken ill.

And while Furcolo obviously did curtail his activities in deference to Fingold's illness, he hasn't exactly been either idle or out of the public eye.

Actually, everything Furcolo does as Governor—every statement he makes, every message he sends to the Legislature, every move he undertakes, every law he seeks—affects his prospects of achieving reelection.

In pursuing his official duties as Governor, Furcolo was advancing his candidacy for a second term, probably more effectively than if he were out making stump speeches at clambakes and outings.

Most of the political pundits feel that Furcolo probably has gained some ground in the past six or seven weeks and that his stock began to go up when he was renominated unanimously by the Democratic State convention.

The article in last week's issue of the Saturday Evening Post, which referred to Furcolo as "Mr. Unpredictable," was a development in his favor, if only for the matter-of-fact fashion in which it reported that it is expected he will be reelected to a second term.

There were some phases of the article which caused a certain amount of eyebrow lifting on the part of readers who know more about Massachusetts politics than does the Saturday Evening Post author. But on the whole it helped Furcolo.

Widespread conjecture has been voiced in political quarters as to exactly what kind of political campaign Attorney General Fingold will wage during the next 2½ months.

During the past six years Fingold has attended strictly to his duties as Attorney General. Only rarely did he become involved in controversies. When he did it concerned the conduct of his own office, as, for example, when he moved to prosecute the desperadoes who seized control of the Cherry Hill section of the old Charlestown State Prison.

The Attorney General and present Republican gubernatorial standard-bearer has been completely detached from the disputes and arguments which have raged over the big issues which have come before the Legislature.

Because of the nature of the office he held he was not called upon to take a public position on such matters as the sales tax, the withholding state income tax and the Port Authority issue.

Now he stands on the threshold of a highly important campaign for the Governorship, and no one knows where he stands on those and other issues of great consequence to the people of Massachusetts.

In the campaign soon to get underway Fingold undoubtedly will be obliged to take a stand on some of them because if he doesn't inject such a question as the withholding tax into the campaign Furcolo certainly will.

Indeed, from the statements Furcolo made prior to Fingold's illness it seems plain that one phase of the Governor's strategy will be to demand to know what Attorney General Fingold's position is concerning the issues which have been raised in the State government during the past two years.

Kennedy and Shaughnessy In 2-Man Treasurer Race

Both State Treasurer John F. Kennedy and Woburn Mayor William G. Shaughnessy got their wish for a two-man primary fight. Now the political seers are speculating as to what effect, if any, the change from a three-candidate race will be.

It was Shaughnessy who filed a protest against the nomination papers of Framingham Selectman Michael J. Ward and succeeded in having him knocked off the ballot.

The blunt, outspoken Kennedy, however, asserts that he's not at all displeased by this development and that he will welcome the opportunity to ascertain how he will fare in a two-man primary battle. Some observers suspect he may be thinking in terms of a primary struggle for endorsement for a higher office in 1960.

Kennedy has engaged in three primary contests, winning two and losing one. He never before has engaged in a two-man Democratic race. Certainly, however, it should be no more difficult than the setup which confronted him two years ago when Clement A. Riley, present Registrar of Motor Vehicles, was his opponent, and another Kennedy was in the field.

Compromise Believed Reached On Mass. Port Authority Bill

A strong impression exists on Beacon Hill that Chairman Ephraim Brest of the Massachusetts Port Authority has yielded and consented to the insertion of a provision in the law which would give the Governor veto power over the actions of the Port Authority.

Brest himself has remained silent on the matter, but it is believed that he now realizes that only by making such a concession and compromise can he get his agency into operation.

If Brest should use his influence with the legislators with whom he is friendly to have the gubernatorial veto clause knocked out of the bill, the measure unquestionably would be thrown out when it reached Governor Furcolo's desk.

Chairman Brest would have nothing to gain by such a move. If Furcolo is reelected, Brest would be confronted with the same situation next year as faces him now. In Fingold is the next Governor, the picture would be just the same because he reportedly also believes that the Governor should wield some control over the Port Authority.

Thus, it seems clear that the Port Authority either will finally get going under a gubernatorial veto power, or it will not get going at all.

Signs Indicate Furcolo to Make Withholding Tax Campaign Issue

The political signs are mounting that Governor Furcolo intends to make his State withholding income tax proposal one of the major issues of his campaign, whether he wins or loses on his third try to obtain the enactment of the measure.

Furcolo will beam his arguments to those persons who dutifully and conscientiously pay their State income taxes when they come due each year.

Depending on the outcome of the next battle to be waged in the State Senate, Furcolo either will assert that he finally succeeded in securing the passage of a law which will compel tax-evaders to pay their taxes to the Commonwealth, or he will protest that the Republican-controlled Senate blocked the adoption of such a law.

Whether such an issue can be used with any telling effect is something that only coming events will determine. Some of Furcolo's advisers are convinced that it can.

So far there has been no indication of any shift in sentiment in the Senate where the crucial battle over the withholding tax will be fought. Unless Governor Furcolo can do some effective political horse-trading or unless the Republicans revise their strategy, the withholding measure appears destined for a third defeat.

ELMER NELSON UNUSUALLY QUIET SINCE GOP CONVENTION IN JUNE

One of the surprises of the political campaign to date has been the quiet which has surrounded the candidacy of Elmer C. Nelson, Republican nominee for Lieutenant Governor, since the GOP convention held at Worcester in mid-June.

Ordinarily a political firebrand, Nelson was expected to be one of those who would enliven the campaign and set off some verbal barrages. They undoubtedly will come later, but Nelson ordinarily is not slow about moving into action.

"Soul" Subject at Christian Science Service Sunday

The Sunday morning service will be held at 10:45 at the First Church of Christ Scientist, 391 Walnut street, Newtonville. Sunday School will be at the same hour. The testimony meeting will be held Wednesday evening at 8 o'clock.

Assurance of God's readiness to supply all good to man will be emphasized in the lesson-sermon entitled "Soul."

The ever-availability of divine goodness is set forth in the Scriptural readings, including this one from Luke (12:32): "Fear not, little flock; for it is your Father's good pleasure to give you the kingdom."

A correlative passage from "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy declares (60:29): "Soul has infinite resources with which to bless mankind, and happiness would be more readily attained and would be more secure in our keeping, if sought in Soul."

The golden text is from Psalms (70:4): "Let all those that seek thee rejoice and be glad in thee; and let such as love thy salvation say continually, Let God be magnified."

Keyho Outstanding In Win Over Corpus Christi, 6-0

Bob Keyho was almost the whole story in a one-man-show of pitching and batting as the Sons of Italy swamped Corpus Christi 6-0 in an American Division game at Newton Highlands playground Monday night.

Corpus Christi B was doing a little better at Cabot Park, leading Cabot Park 7-0, but it was all for naught. Darkness halted the game in the top of the fifth and the game was played over in its entirety.

11th Hour Triple Decides Contest

A clutch triple by John Callan with two out in the final inning drove both runs and gave Corpus Christi a 2-0 victory over Newton Centre in a National Division game played Monday night at Auburndale Play-ground.

Tom Ryan and Fred Lundberg crossed the plate as a result of Callan's booming three-bagger, after they had both gotten free trips to first. The line drive was off the pitcher's arm of Barry Nello who relieved Driscoll in the final inning. Bill Boucher smacked a double off Driscoll, the only hit he allowed. The summary:

Rules for GIs Studying Under Korean Bill

Veterans planning to start school this fall under the Korean GI Bill today were urged by the Veterans Administration to take action now in order to avoid the last-minute rush later on.

With some 600,000 veterans expected to be in training this fall, VA Regional Offices will be operating at top speed to process their papers. By filing their applications now, veterans will save themselves unnecessary delays, VA said.

To help veterans get started the right way, VA issued this eight-point check list:

1. Since veterans are allowed only one change of course, they should give plenty of thought to their goal and the training program leading to the goal.
2. Veterans not sure of their training goal may request VA vocational counseling.
3. Veterans should be certain their course has been GI approved by the State in which the school is located, VA Regional Offices — and not VA headquarters in Washington, D. C. — can furnish information about approved courses.
4. Veterans should complete arrangements for admittance to their school before filing application with VA.
5. The application for GI training should be completely filled out and signed. It should be sent, along with a photostat or certified copy of the veteran's separation paper, to the VA Regional Office serving his area.
6. The application should go to VA as soon as possible. This will enable VA to iron out any snags before school starts.
7. Veterans with dependents should have the necessary proof of dependency ready when VA request it. For a wife, this would be a photostat of the marriage certificate; for a child, a photostat of the birth certificate.
8. Veterans should take along enough money of their own to tide them over the first two months of training. It takes that long, ordinarily, for a veteran's first monthly GI check to reach him. The reason is that payments are made only after each month of training is completed, and not before.

Further, before VA may make a payment, it must receive a certification signed by the veteran and his school, stating that he has been in class all month. The law allows VA 20 days after receipt of certification to get checks in the mail.

Rotarians Hear USCGS Speaker

The regular meeting of the Newton Rotary Club was held this week at the Brae Burn Country Club in West Newton, with visiting Rotarians attending from nearby communities and as far away as Colorado.

George Moore of the Boston office of the United States Coast and Geodetic Survey was the guest speaker. Mr. Moore gave the history of this important department of the government, and stressed the need for accurate surveys of national waterways.

The United States Coast and Geodetic Survey was organized in 1807, said Mr. Moore. It is the oldest technical organization in the country and it fathered the Bureau of Weights and Standards. Among other duties it measures tides and currents and it is responsible for the accurate preparation of charts showing the depths of waters off the coast.

Mr. Moore presented a motion picture entitled "Surveyors at Work," which dealt with the history of surveying from early Egyptian times to the present.

Local Schoolboys Invited to Pros' Clinic on Football

If you see some of our local High School gridirers threading through the opposition's backfield in the manner of Ray McLean of St. Anselm College days or busting through tackle on a quick-opener like Joe Johnson when he captained Boston College's Eagles, there'll be a reason.

The local High Schoolers, both the vets from last year's eleven and those aspiring for a regular's spot have been invited to attend a huge football clinic at B.U. Field at 2:15 p.m., Saturday, Sept. 6.

Professors at the clinic will be members of the New York Giants and the Green Bay Packers, who will meet that night in the annual Harry Agganis Memorial game at B.U. Field.

The Packers will take care of the defensive phase of the clinic. The Giants will display their offensive talents for the high schoolers. Players from Boston College and Boston University will help out during the demonstrations.

After the session the high school boys will be fed at Commonwealth Armory. Then, following supper and an hour of football movies, the players will move back to B.U. Field to watch the game.

The committee in charge of the program includes Coaches Mike Holovak, of Boston College, Steve Slinko of Boston University, Joe McKenney, former B.C. star and coach, row director of physical education for Boston public schools; Bernie Meglin of Concord High, Ray Riddick of Lowell High, Director of Athletics, Vic Stout of B.U., and Bob Reardon of the Chamber of Commerce sports committee.

Democratic Club Looks For Large Gathering At Picnic

With Governor Foster Furcolo acting as honorary chairman, the Newton Democratic Club's annual family picnic and band concert at Riverside Recreation Grounds in Auburndale Sunday from 1 to 6 p.m. is expected to attract over 500 Democrats and their families, including many Democratic candidates for state, county and local offices.

James P. D. Waters, chairman of the Picnic Committee, reports that tickets and contributions are "moving well" and that the 40-piece CYD band from Roslindale's Sacred Heart Parish has been engaged to entertain the guests and candidates.

Entertainment and recreation events for young and old will feature a water ski show, a softball game between north and south side teams, motor boating and swimming.

While many candidates have indicated their intention to attend and meet Democratic voters from the Newton area, particular interest will be centered on former Suffolk County Assistant District Attorney Joseph J. Mulhern, Jr., attorney John Saltonstall and former Boston City Councillor Edward F. McLaughlin, Democratic candidates for Congress in the 10th Congressional District.

Mulhern, McLaughlin and Saltonstall are now engaged in a spirited contest for the nomination and have promised to be present at the picnic.

Tickets for the picnic are $1.00 per family, and may be secured from the following members of the committee: Chairman Waters, Joseph Bradley, William Kelly, Louis Bacari, Harold De Wolfe, Margaret Delaney, Al Guzzi, George Cahill, Vera Loftus, Don Ferreri, William Higgins, Milton Kay and Robert Keezer.

Newton-Born General To Get Area Command After Duty Overseas

Major General Roy E. Lindquist, a native of West Newton and well known in these parts for many years, 3rd Infantry Division Commander at Wuerzburg, Germany, since March of 1957, will leave the famed "Marne Division" to head the Northern Area Command beginning September 4, according to an announcement reaching The Graphic this week.

GEN. ROY LINDQUIST

Now wearing the two stars of a major general, General Lindquist became Commanding General of the 3rd Infantry Division on March 20, 1957. Born in West Newton on February 18, 1907, the General is married to the former Alice Murch, of Pittsfield, where he now makes his home.

Two sons, Roy E. Jr., and Robert E., follow in the military footsteps of their famous father. Both are graduates of the U. S. Military Academy at West Point and are assigned to the 82nd Airborne Division, Fort Bragg, N. C.

The former West Newton resident wears the decorations of many foreign countries because of services as a fighting

Gala Days Bring Summer Playground Season to Close

Gala play days bring the 1958 summer season to a colorful close on Newton playgrounds this week. Parents and children alike warmly applauded the programs held in district 1 of the city under the direction of Recreation Supervisor Nicholas P. Tedesco.

Costume, bicycle and doll carriage parades along with competitive events, exhibitions, group contests and team games highlighted the play day programs Tuesday for the Newtonville-Nonantum playground areas of Boyd, Carr, Hawthorn, High School, Horace Mann, Stearns and Victory playgrounds.

"Fun for All" during the various play days prompted Recreation Commissioner C. Evan Johnson to comment: "These gala events do bring together children and their parents to participate and compete in a truly wholesome experience to the benefit of themselves and their communities."

A special feature of the play days was the presentation in the form of a statuette symbol of victory on all individual playgrounds of the Boys' and Girls' Achievement Awards for the outstanding boy and girl of the 1958 summer season. Winners must have shown qualities of leadership, good sportsmanship, participation, cooperation, courtesy and neatness during their activities on their playgrounds. Cheering youngsters and their parents gave testimony that these awards are the most coveted of all play day prizes.

Achievement award winners were as follows:
Boyd Playground: Ronald Smith, Virginia Moriarty, Carr Playground: Oranzo Panagfio, Dorothy Bergen, Hawthorn Playground: Richard Kelly, Judith Antonellis, High School Playground: William Lally, Patricia Claffin, Horace Mann Playground: Richard Penta, Carolyn Taylor, Stearns

Congress, Council Contests Arouse Interest in Newton

With the September primary now less than three weeks away, the candidates involved in battles for party nominations have no alternative but to try to overcome the difficulties of campaigning amid the late August heat, humidity and public apathy.

The situation is an extraordinary one this year, because the primary comes a week earlier than usual, cutting in half the amount of electioneering possible after Labor Day.

Aside from the State-wide clashes for the Democratic nominations for Attorney General and State Treasurer, two contests will attract a major share of the primary spotlight on Newton's political scene.

One is the two-man struggle between Attorney Harris A. Reynolds and former Registrar of Motor Vehicles Rudolph F. King for the Republican nomination for the seat in the Governor's Council which Christian A. Herter, Jr., of Newton is relinquishing to run for Attorney General.

The second is the three-cornered fight for the right to stand as the Democratic nominee against formidable Republican Congressman Laurence Curtis.

It would be necessary to dig deeply into the political records to find a Democratic primary contest in the 10th congressional district to match the present one between Boston City Councillor Edward F. McLaughlin, Jr., of Jamaica Plain, Attorney Joseph J. Mulhern, Jr., of Jamaica Plain, and Attorney John L. Saltonstall, Jr., of Brookline.

An unusual phase to that race is that both Mulhern and Saltonstall are making their first runs for elective office. While a few persons have been successful in winning a seat in Congress without having served a previous political apprenticeship, it hasn't been done very often.

Mulhern is the son of Joseph J. Mulhern, a long-time prominent figure in Democratic politics in Massachusetts. He is a very likeable young man, an attorney and a former assistant district attorney in Suffolk County. His political strength, of course, is unknown. Some of his support is coming to him because of his father.

Nab 18 Out Of 200 In Road Watch Early AM Patrol

Newton shared Operation Road Watch No. 1, with the rest of the State and 200 motorists were stopped between 1 a.m. and 4 a.m. at Commonwealth avenue and Washington street, Auburndale, by a registry inspector and police officers.

Eighteen violators were tabulated during the three-hour period. Most found themselves in trouble because of lack of necessary papers or for going through a stop sign.

The road block was conducted by Registry Inspector George F. Prescott and Patrolmen William C. Olds, Patrick J. Panagiotis, William J. Neely and Edward J. Herick.

Driver Held In Crash Involving Drinking Charge

The driver of a car involved in an accident which left two persons injured was held in $150 bail by Judge W. Lloyd Allen in Newton District Court Saturday.

John B. O'Toole III of 89 Mt. Pleasant street, New Bedford, pleaded innocent to charges of driving under the influence of liquor and drunkenness. The case was continued until August 28.

Police said that O'Toole's car struck the rear of an auto operated by Harry E. Stone, 26 Church street, Oxford, at 9:35 p.m. Saturday on Boylston street at Dudley road in Newton Centre.

Two passengers in the Stone car were taken to Newton-Wellesley Hospital. They were Mrs. Elida Stone, wife of the operator, and Alice C. Lagesse, 18, of 39 Perry place, Auburndale.

Burglars Active Over Week-End

Burglars were again active in Newton over the weekend, invading two homes and a library in their search for loot.

Francis Angino, 47 Sheldon road, Oak Hill, told police that a portable television set valued at $125 had been taken from his home after thieves had opened a screen and window in the pantry. The intruder left by the side door after taking what he desired.

The home of Jacob Donath, 11 Ivanhoe street, Newton, was entered by picking the front door lock during the absence of the family. A bedroom was ransacked but police were unable to determine if anything had been taken.

A skeleton key was used to enter the Newton Centre Branch Library between Friday night and Monday morning. Although several closets were ransacked, only 15 cents was reported missing.

Newton Police Finally Stymied

Newton police officers are pretty adept at handling just about every complaint made to them. This week, however, they received one which stymied them. An irate husband telephoned police headquarters to protest that his wife was complaining about him "all the time." Newton's guardians of the law were forced to admit that problem was a little out of their line.

$92,000 Will Be Expended For Rebuilding 7 Streets

Mayor Howard Whitmore, Jr., has submitted proposed appropriations totalling $196,000 for suggested public improvements to the Board of Aldermen for consideration at their meeting next Monday night.

Committee meetings on the Mayor's recommendations will be held at 6 p.m., prior to the session of the full Aldermanic Board at 9 p.m.

Biggest single recommendation made by the Mayor to the Aldermen calls for the expenditure of $92,000 for the reconstruction of seven streets.

Roadways which are to be resurfaced if that appropriation is approved are:

Eldredge street, from Church to Franklin street.

Park street from Church to Tremont street.

Otis street, from Chestnut to Lexington street in Newton Highlands.

Circuit avenue in Newton Highlands.

Sargent street, from Park to Centre street.

Nod Hill road in Newton Highlands.

Woodland road from Maple to Grove street in Auburndale.

Other appropriations being sought by Mayor Whitmore are:

$18,900 for the construction of the remaining portion of Charlemont street, from the accepted section to Carl street, a distance of 310 feet.

$9800 for the installation of a drain and sewer in Charlemont street, from Carl street, northwesterly and southeasterly.

$11,000 for the installation of a drain and sewer in Levert street from Greenwood street northwesterly, a distance of 365 feet.

MTA Starts Land-Clearing For Highland Br. Parking

Bulldozers have begun the task of clearing land in Newton for the installation of MTA parking lots. It is expected that in two sites at Riverside and a point near the Woodland Golf Club, parking facilities for somewhat more than 2000 automobiles will be made available for MTA patrons when the road takes over operation of the abandoned Highlands branch.

The Riverside lot will be the larger of the two, with spaces for 1350 cars being planned. The lot is located on land between the railroad tracks and the Riverside Sand and Gravel Co. The land had originally been intended by the S. S. Pierce Co. for a warehouse. It was purchased from the big grocery firm by the MTA.

The second lot is east of Washington street, opposite the golf club. The old railroad station has been sold to the club and is not presently used.

According to William E. Ryan, an assistant general counsel for the MTA, no further land-takings are planned in Waban, Newton Centre, Eliot and Chestnut Hill where the B. & A. left railroad stations when it quit service.

Woman Denies She Was Bookie

Gertrude E. Johnson, 31, of Pleasant street, Cambridge, was held in $200 bail for a hearing today, Thursday, in Newton District Court, when she was arraigned before Judge Donald E. Mayberry on alleged bookie charges.

Lieutenant John M. McMullen and Sergeant James E. Halloran told the court at her arraignment they found about 40 slips, containing number pool plays in her handbag when they arrested her.

The Cambridge woman pleaded innocent.

The arrest was made at the Raytheon plant in Newton, where she is employed.

Highlands TV Set Hit By Lightning

A bolt of lightning crashed through a window and crossing the room struck a television set in the home of Mrs. David Edesses at 430 Winchester street, Newton Highlands. The fire department was called although no fire followed the strike. The set was ruined.

2 Bandits Who Robbed Oak Hill Dentist Sought

Bandits who held up Dr. Irving G. Nathanson of 270 Country Club road, Oak Hill, in his Boston dental office and tied him up before escaping with $3000 are believed to be the pair involved in other Boston robberies.

The Newton dentist was able to provide the investigating police with a good description of the pair. They entered his office in the late afternoon after the doctor's staff had left for the day.

'Pike Racing Cost Pair $25 Fines

A pair of non-Newton residents found the court does not approve of the use of the Newton stretch of the Worcester turnpike as a race track. When David J. Garber of Brighton and Kevin McElgahan of Farmington were arraigned before him charged with matching the speed of their automobiles on the "pike, Judge Donald E. Mayberry in Newton District Court assessed a fine of $25 against each.

Newtonville Merchants Set Value Goal In Sales Event

Looming as one of the most outstanding of all local merchandising events, the gala "Back To School Sales Days" now being planned by businessmen in the Newtonville area, has caught on tremendously as enthusiasm at last Monday's meeting revealed.

Nate Loomis was chairman of Monday's meeting which was presided over by Justin Horan, executive secretary of the Newton Chamber of Commerce. All-out support of Newtonville merchants is indicated which will be highlighted by a special advertising and publicity campaign in The Graphic.

Also present at the meeting Monday were Philip Bram, Thomas Dillon and John Murphy. It was announced that the many valuable prizes to be awarded during the big sale will be displayed at the Star Market. These include a television set, air conditioner and bridge set.

Thursday, Friday and Saturday, September 4, 5 and 6 have been set aside as "Back To School Sales Days" and they will be days and dates to remember by local parents faced with the problems of outfitting their offspring for the return to classrooms and books. Special banners will designate the stores cooperating in the big Newtonville shopping carnival. Some merchants are planning special novelties and surprises on their own, to augment the value goal.

McLaughlin Says Public Record Vital for Congress Contender

City Councillor Edward F. McLaughlin, Jr., of Jamaica Plain declared today that he is the only Democratic candidate for Congress in the 10th congressional district who can offer a public record to the voters for their consideration.

He emphasized that of the three candidates seeking the Democratic nomination for Congress in this district he not only is the only one who has held public office but also is the only one who previously has ever run for public office.

Councillor McLaughlin said he recognized the right of any citizen to stand for election to any public office.

But he added that it is highly unusual for any candidate with no previous record of public service to ask the people to elect him to Congress the first time he puts his name on the ballot.

McLaughlin* appealed to the Democratic voters in the 10th district to weigh the facts and answer the following questions before deciding which of the three Democratic congressional candidates they will cast their ballots for in the Sept. 9 primary.

"1. Which of the three Democratic candidates has the necessary background, qualifications and public record to give you the calibre of service you desire in the Congress of the United States?"

"2. Which of the three Democratic candidates has the background, the qualifications and the public record to win election in November?"

"3. Would a candidate with no public record—with no previous record of public service in elective office—have any real chance of defeating the present Republican Congressman?"

Councillor McLaughlin observed that there is an excellent chance that the people of the 10th district this year will elect a Democratic Congressman. "But I do not believe," he declared, "that our party can hope to win with a candidate who has no public record."

"I have served a political apprenticeship in the Boston City Council for the past five years," McLaughlin asserted.

"During that time I have provided the best public service I could for the people I represented, and I have endeavored to demonstrate and to prove that I am deserving of promotion to higher office."

"On the strength of the record I have made I am standing for nomination and election to the Congress of the United States."

Councillor McLaughlin is a graduate of the Boston Latin School, Dartmouth College, the Tuck School of Business Administration at Dartmouth and the Northeastern University Law School.

He served in the navy during World War II and was attached to the same PT-boat squadron in the South Pacific as U. S. Senator John F. Kennedy. In private life he is an active practicing attorney.

in the Protestant Chapel of the big Boston hospital.

The 57 students during the 12-week period undertook a course designed to acquaint them with the duties of hospital chaplains. It included a two-week stint during which they served as orderlies at the hospital.

At the conclusion of the ceremony, Dr. John M. Bellinsky, 91 Herrick road, Newton, director of the course, Gilles professor of psychology at Andover Newton, and a chaplain at the hospital, presented to Dr. Conlin a wood carved statue of St. Paul. It was a gift of the students to the hospital head.

Dr. Conlin praised the work of the class and the dedication shown by the students, many of them ministers with parishes scattered through New England and elsewhere.

The Rev. Lloyd E. Beebe, 74 Bowen street, Newton, assistant course director and a chaplain at Boston City Hospital, was in charge of the exercises.

Receiving certificates were: G. Henry Bause, William E. Beldan, Donald F. Blake, Joseph A. Bayles, Roger S. Brooks, Rodney F. Case, Wallace R. Cedarleaf, Edmund A. Claypool, William A. Cook, James A. ## Rotary Speaker Gives Talk On Australian Life

Dr. Donald Copping, of Perth, Australia, was the guest speaker at the Monday meeting of the Newton Rotary Club and presented one of the most interesting talks of the season.

Currently a visiting radiologist at Newton-Wellesley Hospital, Dr. Copping has been on sabbatical leave for almost a year.

After visiting in London, Rome and Sweden, he remarked that the United States, except for minor accent differences, seemed very much like his native Australia.

In discussing Australia, he compared its present state of development to that of this country in the 1880's.

The airplane and the bicycle-type pedal power radio are the key factors in rural Australian medicine, Dr. Copping said.

Regular hours are set apart for radio medical consultations after which the doctor will diagnose, suggest a remedy, have the patient brought in by air or fly to the patient in person.

A humorous sidelight brought out by Dr. Copping was the social hour on the pedal radio, from eleven to noon each day. The time is set aside for the women of the out-country to visit by radio.

Firm friendships are formed by women who talk together daily to ranches hundreds of miles apart but who may never see each other in person.

Nobody else's vaccination—not even your children's—will protect you. Each person has to get his own. Don't take a chance—take your polio shots.

leader of American troops. He has the French Croix de Guerre, the Order of the Dutch Lion, the Greek Order of the Phoenix, the French Fourragere, the Dutch Lanyard and the Belgian Fourragere.

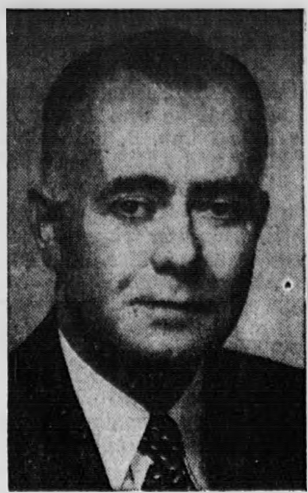

Paratroop pioneer and battle leader, General Lindquist led the first pentomic infantry division on its gyroscopic move to Europe last March. Under his command, the 3rd Infantry, "Marine Division", relinquished its training at Fort Benning and reorganized under the five-sided Pentomic structure to assume the NATO Shield Mission in Bavaria, Germany.

His long and brilliant Army career has embraced many phases of leadership and combat since he was graduated from West Point with the class of 1930. He first joined the 5th Infantry Regiment at Fort Williams as a young shavetail out of "The Point."

Volunteering for the embryonic U. S. Airborne in 1940, the then Captain Lindquist was assigned to the 501st Parachute Infantry Battalion upon its organization in October, 1940. He helped to organize the Headquarters Parachute Group which was to grow into the U. S. Army Airborne Command.

He was a "Jumping Officer" and organized the 508th Parachute Regiment at Camp Blanding, Florida, in October 1942. He led this command throughout the campaigns of World War II.

His rise was rapid, through assistant commandant of the Fort Benning Airborne School after the close of World War II, to a member of the Joint U. S. Military Advisory Group in Greece in 1946 to 1950.

RALPH S. E. SANGUINETTI

Following an interim command assignment as Commander of Camp Stoneman, California, he became a Brigadier General in August 1953, and was appointed assistant division commander of the 6th Infantry Division at Camp Ord, California.

Command of the famous 187th Airborne Regimental Combat Team in Japan began in October 1953. When the outfit returned to the continent in July, 1955, making the first Army gyroscopic move, Lindquist became Chief of Staff, and Deputy Commander, Headquarters XX Corps, Far East.

In July 1956, he was assigned Deputy Test Director of Troop Test Jumpflight, an eight-month test of the 101st Airborne Division at Fort Campbell, Kentucky.

A perfectionist by experience and temperament, he has observed the evolutionary developments within the Army since 1930 and has materially affected the course of these changes.

Originally Commander of the 508th Infantry Regiment, which he activated in 1942 and led into combat, he was associated shoppers, the Newtonville merchants will offer an exceptional service to the community. They have planned this event carefully as several meetings indicate. Wholesalers and suppliers have been contacted and every step taken to assure the finest merchandise at unusually reasonable prices.

Astute mothers, long familiar with real bargains when shopping for their children, will immediately recognize the genuine values on the counters and in the display cases at Newtonville stores during the "Back to School Sales Days."

Further information on the big bargain carnival will appear in The Graphic, with the climax coming in a special section of advertising values appearing with the September 4th issue.

Tennis Champion Saves Child And Wins His Match

Most people, if they had just dived into a swimming pool fully clothed and rescued a small child, would be "jumpy" for several hours. Al Stitt, 45, of 733 Chestnut street, Waban, is made of sterner stuff.

Teamed with Harold Fenerty of Westwood in the senior men's division, Stitt was walking to an outer court for a first round match in the 78th National Doubles tennis championships at Longwood, when he heard the sound of screams from the pool.

The tennis star ran to the pool and saw 23-month-old Laura Kudraskas struggling in the water. He dove in and brought the child safely to her mother, Mrs. Kenneth Kauffman of Belmont.

Stitt retired to change his clothes before rejoining Fenerty for a 3-6, 6-2, 6-4 victory over W. D. Cunningham and Norman

Excellent Idea

We like the orders issued to Newton police officers by their chief, Philip Purcell.

"Sergeants and men are to check their routes," read the orders, "for political posters, house 'For Sale' signs or advertising posters of any description that are reported to be up throughout the city on trees and posts.

"Any signs found are to be taken down and turned in to headquarters."

Bravo for the Chief!

It's an example which might well be followed in every self-respecting city and town.

There's nothing which offers a more jolting affront to the aesthetic taste of any normal citizen than the clusters of political posters which appear at this time of the year wherever a group of candidates for public office find an easy spot to plaster with their desecrations.

Nothing, that is—except the same signs after the elements have worked on them for weeks and the candidate whose cause they hailed has either taken office or been defeated.

It's certainly frightening to think that the candidates whose faces are plastered so indiscriminately in every possible public place are men who want to make and administer our laws.

The candidates have an easy out. They'll tell you if they didn't do it the other man would. They'll tell you that they didn't know the signs went up in the first place. "Some over-enthusiastic supporter" will be blamed. That is purest buncombe.

The public could hardly be blamed if it staged a bit of revolt and refused to cast ballots for any candidates named in the posters.

We have some laws on the subject. They are ineffective as a drive almost anywhere in Massachusetts will prove.

The Newton police chief is setting an example which might well be emulated on a general scale.

The politicians won't scream too loudly if all the illegal signs are ripped down.

They'll realize the chief is doing what most public-spirited citizens would like to do.

Personally we don't believe that those signs have ever attracted votes enough to pay for the monetary outlay involved.

Once again, good luck Chief.

Political Highlights

Saltonstall is one of the rare Democratic Saltonstalls and is a second cousin of U. S. Senator Leverett Saltonstall, although it would seem that politically he differs with the Senator on just about everything. Like McLaughlin and Mulhern, Saltonstall is an attorney. He belongs to the liberal wing of the Democratic party and has been active in numerous Democratic campaigns.

McLaughlin, who is serving his third term in the Boston City Council and also is a former Assistant U. S. Attorney, is pitching his campaign party on the fact that he is the only one of the three who had run for public office before, has held public office or has a public record to offer the voters. McLaughlin maintains that it is unlikely that the Democratic party could defeat Congressman Curtis with a standard-bearer who had no public record.

The three candidates are all campaigning at a fast tempo and have been arousing considerable interest by their efforts.

Some feeling and bitterness has been engendered in the contest between Attorney Reynolds and former Registrar King in the Herter councillor district.

King, who commanded widespread attention during his service as Registrar of Motor Vehicles, was replaced in that office by Clement A. Riley earlier this year, after the Governor's Council had refused to extend his tenure when he reached the retirement age.

Reynolds ran against Councillor Herter in the Republican primary two years ago. He entered the race this year after Herter accepted a place on the GOP State ticket. Reynolds' supporters are using the argument that the Republican party must encourage and give recognition to young men and women.

King, of course, served as a member of the House of Representatives and as its Speaker before his appointment as Registrar.

GOP Nominee for Auditor Is Conducting Aggressive Fight

Thomas H. Adams of Springfield, the Republican candidate for State Auditor, is going to try to capitalize on the fact that Auditor Thomas J. Buckley periodically has been a cocklebur on the seat of the pants of the Democratic party.

Adams also asserts that the only time Buckley is heard from is when an election is looming up on the calendar and that then he invariably uses the Metropolitan Transit Authority as his whipping boy to attract attention.

Buckley actually has been something of a minor political irritant to all three Democratic Governors who have held office while he has been Auditor — the late Maurice J. Tobin, the late Paul A. Dever and now Foster Furcolo.

Up until now, however, no Republican has taken full advantage of the fact that many influential Democrats look upon Auditor Buckley with something less than unbounded enthusiasm.

Adams not only intends to try to do that, but his initial broadside at Buckley made evident that he intends to blame Buckley for just about everything wrong that has happened at the State House during the past 18 years. Adams maintains that it is the Auditor's responsibility to protect the Commonwealth against waste, extravagance and payroll padding uncovered by his audits.

Political onlookers are beginning to suspect that the battle between Buckley and Adams may be a more vigorous fight than they originally anticipated.

Mrs. Marion Boch Campaigning In Usually Masculine Domains

Attractive Mrs. Marion C. Boch of Norwood is invading some strictly masculine domains in the energetic campaign she is waging for election as Secretary of State.

But she also is feminine enough to want to have spot checks made to ascertain whether her political efforts are producing any results.

Mrs. Boch decided, for instance, that it would be a good idea if she could get the barbers of Massachusetts on her side in her fight with Secretary of State Edward J. Cronin.

As she figured it out, most barbers talk to their customers while giving them haircuts or shaves and that it would give her campaign considerable impetus if she could get them talking about her while wielding a razor or a pair of scissors.

So she makes it a point to stop in at the barber shops in whatever cities and towns she visits, chats with the barbers about her campaign and endeavor to enlist them among her supporters.

Even if a particular barber is a down-the-line Democrat who never votes for a Republican, she is hopeful that she will be included in the topics of conversation he covers with his customers.

The first barbershop she visited was in New Bedford. She created quite a stir when she entered it because in most barbershops a woman nowadays is about as rare as the old-time Police Gazette.

Mrs. Boch made her campaign pitch to the barbers in that shop, not failing to suggest that they might mention her candidacy and visit while shaving or trimming the hair of their patrons.

Womanlike, Mrs. Boch began to wonder, after leaving the barber shop, if she had accomplished anything by her visit and whether she was going about her campaign in the right way.

As she was turning the question over in her mind, one of her campaign workers approached her to ask if there was anything she wanted him to do.

An idea immediately exploded in her mind. Yes, she told him, there was. Giving her worker the address of the barbershop she had just visited, she instructed him to go there and get a haircut.

Her startled supporter began to protest mildly that he really didn't need a haircut and that his hair already was pretty short.

Firmly, Mrs. Boch told him to get it trimmed some more. She added the instructions that he was merely to go to the barbershop, get his hair trimmed, not say a word about politics or her candidacy and wait to see what the barber said to him.

A short time later the campaign worker was back to report that while he was getting his hair trimmed the barber talked almost incessantly about Mrs. Marion Boch who was running for Secretary of State.

That was all Mrs. Boch wanted to know. Since then she has carried her campaign into all the barbershops in 23 cities and towns, and in some barbershops has become almost as much a topic of conversation as the Red Sox.

She also created some consternation by strolling into the State police barracks in Northampton, Leominster and Brookfield and asking the troopers she was able to but-honhole if they would vote for her.

At each building she was asked if she had entered the wrong place by mistake. When she answered them that she hadn't, the troopers expressed amazement that anyone would call on them to solicit their votes.

No woman has been elected to State Constitutional office in Massachusetts. Three have tried before Mrs. Boch. All three were defeated.

All three made the mistake of beaming their campaign appeals largely at the women, overlooking the fact that the ladies split their ballots in much the same fashion as the men and that they don't vote for a woman merely because she's a woman.

Mrs. Boch is not repeating that mistake. She's appealing to men and women alike. If she should succeed in defeating Secretary of State Edward J. Cronin, the barbers she has recruited would certainly deserve something of a political assist.

Cong. O'Neill Seen Big Asset In Gov. Furcolo's Campaign

Governor Furcolo, who has had just about every lucky break that could accrue to him in his campaign during the past two months, had another piece of political good fortune when Congressman Thomas P. O'Neill, Jr., of Cambridge consented to serve as his campaign manager.

If anyone can build Furcolo's fences in eastern Massachusetts, it is the hard working, popular O'Neill who was the first Democratic Speaker in the history of the Massachusetts House of Representatives.

O'Neill is an exceptionally astute and able politician. What is perhaps even more important from Furcolo's standpoint is that he has practically no political enemies. If he isn't able to bring into line those Democrats who for one reason or another are displeased with Furcolo, then they're gone beyond recall.

Most Democratic politicians anticipate, incidentally, that O'Neill will be their party's nominee for Governor in 1960. That should further increase his effectiveness as Furcolo's campaign manager.

GOP Politicos No Longer Able To Ride on Ike's Coattails

For the first time since President Eisenhower was nominated by the Republican national convention at Chicago in early July, 1952, GOP candidates in Massachusetts apparently are not eager to have him come into the State to campaign for them.

In 1952, 1954 and 1956 Republican politicians in this State, as in most other States across the nation, were hopeful of riding into office on his coattails.

Now they suspect that his political coattails have worn too thin if, indeed, they haven't vanished entirely. Now the office-seekers feel that they would do better running on their own.

Only two years ago a tremendous vote-getter who was able to pull other Republican candidates to victory behind him, President Eisenhower is regarded as no longer able to generate popularity to other members of his party.

It might be incorrect to report that members of the Massachusetts GOP view him as a political liability. Certainly, however, they do not consider him a political powerhouse; nor do they clamor for him to come to their aid.

Newton Teacher Leaves For Far East Position

One of the most sought after teaching positions in the world has been given to an Oak Hill man, Elliott L. Barron of 23 Schumacher Path. Mr. Barron has been accepted as one of the 20 replacements from this country for the Air Force Overseas Teaching Program and will be assigned to Tokyo, Japan.

"The Air Force Overseas Teaching Program is the only agency in the country that doesn't suffer from a teacher shortage," said Mr. Barron. Each year the agency receives hundreds of applications for an overseas teaching position.

Mr. Barron applied in the fall of 1956 for his assignment and was given an affirmative answer last month. He said that selection is made on the basis of qualifications and extracurricular activities.

He will leave Boston for Tokyo Monday to teach various subjects to American eighth graders in Tokyo. The name and exact location of the school has not been divulged.

Saltonstall Only Congressional Candidate On Radio Quiz Show

John L. Saltonstall, Jr., pointed out today that he was the only one of three candidates for Congress in the 11th congressional district to appear on a radio political quiz show Monday night on station WMEX.

Saltonstall declared that his two opponents, City Councilor Edward F. McLaughlin, Jr., and Joseph L. Mulhern, Jr., also were invited to participate in the show but did not do so.

"I'm sorry my two opponents in the race are not here," Attorney Saltonstall asserted. "I would like to debate the issues with them, to provide the public with a test as to which candidate has the better grasp of the issues."

Attorney Saltonstall stated that Jerry Williams, master of ceremonies of the radio quiz program, wired and wrote to all the candidates for the Democratic nomination in the 10th district, inviting them to participate in a panel discussion on the campaign issues to be moderated by the Rev. Robert F. Drinan, S.J., dean of the Boston College Law School.

He said that Father Drinan asked to be excused when it became apparent that not all the candidates would appear on the program.

Saltonstall in his talk was critical of American foreign policy in the Middle East and said the Administration seemed

"confused as to what we want in the Middle East."

"We have got to come to grips with the forces of Arab nationalism. People everywhere want the right to self-determination," he asserted.

Saltonstall said he didn't think it was necessary to "prop up feudal monarchies to keep the oil flowing from the Middle East". The United States must give Nasser an opportunity to make good on his promises to raise the standard of living of the Arab masses by some concrete offers of economic assistance in exchange for a settlement, he declared.

However, Saltonstall warned, any agreement with Nasser must insist on the preservation and protection of the State of Israel.

Saltonstall, a Brookline resident and Boston lawyer, was asked why he was a Democrat when so many of his family were Republicans. He said that Senator Saltonstall's own grandfather was a prominent Boston Democrat and that the Senator had "gotten off the track" and he was "trying to put the family back on the right track."

In more serious vein he commented that he grew to manhood in the Great Depression and that from his observation of the time he concluded that the Democratic Party "had the greatest number of people at heart . . . The Democratic Party was for all the people."

"I have seen nothing to make me change by position," he stated.

Saltonstall answered questions from the radio audience during the three-hour political quiz.

about this question:

"My neighbor says he wouldn't think of taking a trip without a Trip-Accident Policy, because of the hazard of auto traffic, and boat or sports accidents. Does your agency have such Trip-Accident insurance for any trip extending from 3 days to several months?"

MRS. EVERETT C. BLAKE

Missionary Home On Year Furlough

Rev. and Mrs. Everett C. Blake, Congregational Christian educators in the Near East for 30 years, have just arrived in Boston for a year's furlough. Mrs. Blake is the former Lynda Goodsell, daughter of Rev. Dr. and Mrs. Fred Field Goodsell of Waban.

Dr. Goodsell, executive vice-president emeritus of the American Board of Commissioners of Foreign Missions, was himself an educator in Turkey for 23 years before he assumed the top executive post from 1930-1949 of this oldest foreign mission society in the nation.

Mr. Blake heads the American Collegiate Institute at Izmir, Turkey, a school for 550 Turkish girls from the junior high school to junior college level founded by the American Board in 1877. Mrs. Blake is the principal and Mr. Blake the business manager of the school which holds one of the highest academic ratings in Turkey.

In addition, Mr. Blake is minister of the Community Church in Izmir which serves non-military American and other English.

Lively Political Campaigning In Newton for Coming Primary

Newton's one contribution to the Republican State ticket — Governor's Councillor Christian A. Herter, Jr. — will be watching the returns closely in the primary a week from next Tuesday to learn who his adversary will be in the autumn election battle for the office of Attorney General.

Like all his running mates on the GOP State slate and most of the top candidates on the Democratic side of the political fence, Herter is unopposed for renomination.

There will be no lack of political activity in the Garden City, however, between now and the close of the polling places on primary night.

The greatest excitement will be generated by the Democratic fight for nominations, but there should be enough interest in the Republican primary to pull out a respectable number of GOP voters.

The political spotlight in Newton will be centered on the lively three-man battle for the Democratic nomination for Congress and the right to run against Congressman Laurence Curtis next November, the four-man fight for the Democratic endorsement in the senatorial district now represented by State Senator Donald L. Gibbs and the contests for the Democratic and Republican nominations for the seat in the Executive Council which Christian A. Herter, Jr., is leaving.

Hottest issue in the Democratic congressional race between Boston City Councillor Edward F. McLaughlin, Jr., of Jamaica Plain, Attorney John L. Saltonstall, Jr., of Brookline and Attorney Joseph J. Mulhern, Jr., of Jamaica Plain, appears to be whether a candidate can hope to win election to Congress without having previously served in elective office.

All three have held prominent appointive posts, McLaughlin as a former Assistant United States Attorney, Mulhern as a former Suffolk County Assistant District Attorney and Saltonstall as a federal official in Washington. All three also are attorneys.

But McLaughlin, who is serving his third term in Boston's municipal government, is the only one who has held public office or who has run for public office prior to this campaign.

McLaughlin has placed that issue before the voters of Newton and other parts of the 10th congressional district and has raised the question whether a candidate should serve a political apprenticeship in elective office and attain a public record before standing for election to Congress.

Seaway Equipment May Aid The MTA To Finish Highland Branch Line By Next July 1st

Target date for the completion of the MTA's conversion of the Highland Branch to a roadbed of its own, is now July 1, 1959.

Soon after that date — it is now the hope of MTA officials — most if not all of the old commuters of the B & A will be riding back and forth to Boston — on the MTA system.

Previous estimates have been that it would take 18 months to two years to adapt the branch to the purposes of a high-speed trolley line.

Now the estimates have been revised sharply downward. The MTA trustees know that the longer it takes to adapt the branch to commuter service by their road — the greater the danger of losing forever a percentage of patrons the B & A formerly carried. The trustees know that with every passing day the commuters are finding new ways of getting to Boston and worse than that learning to like the new transportation.

Plans for the big parking areas at Riverside and near the Woodland Golf Club will be of little value unless there are patrons to fill them up.

Thus, there is a need for speed in putting the line in readiness as soon as possible.

One of the reasons for the new July 1 date is that the contractor has transferred here some $10 million worth of cranes, shovels, pile drivers, bulldozers and earth scrapers — equipment that was most recently used on the MTA's

Building A Nuisance; Has To Go

Thirty days is the time allowed the owner of the property at 56 Derby street, West Newton, to start razing the building after the Newton Board of Aldermen adjudged the structure a nuisance.

The Board approved the recommendation of Public Building Commissioner Arthur Campbell that the "owner and or mortgagee of the property at 56 Derby street, West Newton, be allowed 30 days from date of receipt of order to begin razing or removing within 45 days from the date of receipt of the order."

Seek Stolen Newton Gems In Boston and New York

A close watch on pawnshops both in Boston and New York and a thorough check on known gem thieves operating in both cities was being pushed by police as they sought the answer to the city's biggest burglary in years.

Burglars carried from the home of Leo R. Rosen, 17 Ivanhoe street, Newton, 37 expensive items, most of them jewelry pieces, valued at $43,500.

It was Rosen's home that a bandit gang was seeking out when they actually forced their way into the home of Henry Mintz in February, 1955. It was in this invasion that Merrill R. Lovinger, Cambridge attorney and son-in-law of Mintz was murdered by bandits.

Rosen is a dress manufacturer with a plant in Waltham. His home is close to that of the Mintz home.

The break which saw the disappearance of the jewelry was carried out while the family was away from the home for only two days. Entrance was gained by forcing a window in the rear of the house.

Russian History And Language Courses at NJC

Courses in the history of Russia and in elementary Russian will be offered at Newton Junior College this fall.

"Whether we are to be at war or at peace with Russia for the next generation, we are still going to have to deal with Russia as one of the two great world powers," said Director Walter M. Taylor in announcing the course. "It behooves us to find out how they got that way."

Students in the history of Russia course which will meet Mondays, Wednesday and Fridays, 8:30 to 9:30 a.m., will benefit from the military experience and civilian studies of instructor Charles W. Fielder, U. S. Navy, retired, a graduate of the Naval Academy and the University of Maine, and a recent officer in the Joint Strategic Plans and Operations Group in General MacArthur's Tokyo headquarters.

At this headquarters Russia's intentions and capabilities were under constant study. It was this experience which induced Mr. Fielder to add depth to his study of Russia.

He wrote a thesis study on Russia at the Newport Naval War College and also attended Kansas Wesleyan College.

The Newton Junior College course in elementary Russian will be conducted from 7:30 p.m., Tuesday and Thursday evenings. It is open to all students wanting to learn something of the Russian language, including grammar, punctuation.

Aldermen In About Face; Speed Zoning Gets Okay

Mayor's Plan Has 14-5 Vote Margin

At their meeting on Monday night the members of the Board of Aldermen reversed their previous action and voted 14-5 to accept a recommendation by Mayor Howard Whitmore, Jr., for the establishment of speed zones along Commonwealth avenue.

Earlier this month the Aldermen rejected the same proposal by a vote of 11 to 7.

Under the Mayor's plan a speed of up to 35 miles an hour will be allowed along the residential sections of Commonwealth avenue, while in business areas the speed limit will be lowered to 30 miles an hour.

Mayor Whitmore and other municipal officials had advocated the creation of the speed zones in order to synchronize the traffic lights on the heavily traveled avenue.

Alderman Hersh Sharp offered the motion to reconsider the previous action in turning down the Mayor's suggestion.

The city fathers at their meeting Aug. 4 had expressed apprehension that the posting of speed zones might cause motorists to drive faster than they do at the present time.

Mayor Whitmore, however, in a special message to the Aldermen, reported that this would not be the case.

Large Sum Slated For Flood Work

The sum of $160,000 appropriated by the Newton Board of Aldermen at their recent meeting included funds to eliminate a flood problem on Eastside Parkway in Newton and a workshop for the Recreation Department, as well as over $100,000 set aside for streets.

The Board appropriated $9800 for the construction of a 48 inch pipe in Eastside Parkway and Private Land, Newton, to ease a flood condition.

A also, approximately 9600 square feet of space in the Crafts street city stable is to be converted to a workshop and storage space for the Recreation Department at a cost of $5000. A request had been made by the building commissioner for $5500 for the project but the Board by a vote of 15 to

Keep That Dog Way From School SPCA Head Urges

With the reopening of schools at hand, Dr. Eric H. Hansen, president of the Massachusetts Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals and the Angell Memorial Animal Hospital, Boston, has issued a strong appeal to all dog owners to keep their pets away from school grounds.

The Society, he says, picks up an average of 50 dogs a month from property surrounding schools.

"The danger of dog bites can be eliminated by keeping the pets at home when children leave for school," says Dr. Hansen. "Protect a child and keep your dog out of trouble," he urges.

"Bargains" Galore At Local Sale

Although going back to school may seem a mixed blessing to Newton children, their mothers now will have the chance to save dollars, time and effort in the annual outfitting of the returning youngsters by shopping in Newtonville during the gala "Back-to-School Sales Days."

Fear Broken Lock Will Bottle Sea-Lovers' Fleet for Weeks

There's a reason for that aura of frustrating gloom that's enveloped many well-tanned Newton residents these days. You'll find the reason in a bottled-up fleet of outboards and inboards which can't kick their heels of a week-end in waters beyond the Charles.

When the MDC announced that it would be obliged to close the locks of the Charles River Basin because of a broken steering wheel on which the lock gate runs, it hit many Newton week end sailors hard.

Zone Board Rejects Plan For N.C. 16-Apartment Structure

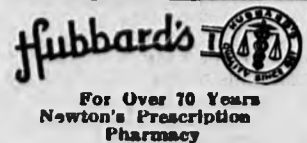

A plea for approval on plans for a 16-apartment house at 1316 Centre street, Newton Centre, was rejected by the Zoning Board of Appeals.

It found that the petition brought by Joshua Brown, Trustee for the Guardian Realty Trust, would, if granted, add to the density of the population in the area and on the whole work as a detriment to the best interests of the neighborhood.

The petitioner sought to replace the present eight-apartment house with one of 16 units.

The board also turned down a request on behalf of Virginia

Fire Causes $20,000 Damage In Newton Centre Gift Shop

Fire believed to have been caused by a carelessly disposed cigarette, smoldered all night and caused $20,000 damage before it was extinguished on discovery in the morning at 19 Pelham street, Newton Centre.

The fire was confined to the rear room of Tante's Card and Gift Shop. It had burned through the floor when a pedestrian detected the flames and sent in an alarm.

It started near a pile of packing material including excelsior and shredded papers, according to Fire Chief Frederick A. Perkins, Jr.

A stock of gifts, cards and novelties were damaged. Smoke damage was also caused in two adjoining stores, Shain the Tailor, at 17 Pelham street, and the Atwood Camera Shop at 21 Pelham street.

The card and gift shop is owned by Mrs. Laura Janikian, 86 Dexter avenue, Watertown.

Bottle Fleet-

Many of the boats tied up at the Newton Yacht Club carried their owner and his family and friends on a trip down the Charles to Boston harbor with perfect regularity every week end.

Now the whole fleet is tied up. It's sphere of action is limited to the seven-mile stretch of the Charles between Watertown square and the disabled locks. For a yachtman, that's not really sailing room.

Warren Jr. High Pre-Opening Day Session Sept. 4

The Levi F. Warren Junior High School, West Newton, will reopen after the summer vacation on Monday, September 8. In preparation for the beginning of another school year, the school office will be open Thursday morning, September 4, at 9 o'clock at which time all pupils who wish to take makeup or placement examinations should report.

Pupils who are new to Warren Junior High, with the exception of those entering the seventh grade from Newton public elementary schools, also report to the school office at 9 a.m. on Thursday. They should bring with them transfer cards, records of final marks, etc., from their previous schools. This will assist in assigning them to the proper grade level.

Seventh grade pupils should report at 8:25 a.m. on opening day September 8; sessions for the eighth and ninth grade pupils begin at 1 p.m. that day. The cafeteria will not be open on Monday.

Gertrude E. Johnson, 31, of Pleasant street, Cambridge, appealed a three-month sentence in the House of Correction after she was found guilty of being a bookie by Judge Donald E. Mayberry in Newton District Court.

"I like to doodle," she told the judge. She admitted she played the numbers herself but said she never took any plays. She was arrested at the Raytheon plant in Newton where she was employed.

McLaughlin Says Congress Nominee Should Be Proven Public Official

City Councillor Edward F. McLaughlin, Jr., of Jamaica Plain declared today that the question confronting the Democratic voters of the 10th congressional district is whether they should nominate as their party's candidate for Congress "a proven public official" or "a person who has never held public office."

McLaughlin asserted that he is standing for nomination and election to Congress from the 10th district on the strength of his record of public service and accomplishments in Boston's municipal government during the past five years.

"If the Democratic voters of our congressional district choose me in the coming primary as their candidate for Congress, I will run in the November election on my public record," McLaughlin said, "and the issue then will be my record against that of my Republican opponent."

"That is the traditional manner in which contests for places in the Congress of the United States are decided," McLaughlin stated. "Men and women who have served their political apprenticeship and have proven their ability in lesser offices go before the voters and submit to them the records they have made. It is then for the people to decide whether a candidate is deserving of promotion to a body such as Congress on the strength of his record."

Councillor McLaughlin said that an unusual aspect to the present Democratic contest in the 10th congressional district is that neither of his opponents has ever held any elective public office or has any public record to submit to the voters.

"That is a simple statement of fact," McLaughlin stated. McLaughlin stressed that he was making no attack upon either of his opponents or reflecting upon their characters in any way.

"But I feel that one of the matters the Democratic voters of the 10th congressional must decide," McLaughlin declared, "is whether a candidate who has never held elective office and consequently has no public record would have any real chance of unseating the present Republican Congressman."

McLaughlin said that he is most respectfully submitting to the voters of the 10th congressional district the record he has made in Boston's municipal government during the past five years.

"I believe I have shown and proven my desire and will to serve the people to the very best of my ability," McLaughlin stated. "And I am deeply grateful that the citizens of Boston have placed their stamp of approval upon my record by giving me a bigger percentage of their votes each time I have stood for election."

McLaughlin, who is one of the most widely respected members of Boston's city government, pointed out that as a City Council member he has sponsored orders which have brought about substantial savings for the city, have resulted in additional parking and recreational facilities and generally have made Boston a better city in which to work and to live.

Married and the father of five children, McLaughlin is a practicing attorney in private life. He served as an Assistant United States Attorney before his election to the City Council. He is an honor graduate of the Boston Latin School, Dartmouth College, the Tufts School of Business Administration at Dartmouth and Northeastern University Law School.

A naval veteran of World War I, Councillor McLaughlin served with U. S. Senator John F. Kennedy on a P-T boat squadron in the South Pacific. Kennedy and McLaughlin are close personal and political friends.

Likewise rejected by the board was a petition brought by Eugene Lyne, 27 Suffolk road, Chestnut Hill, to change his lot line so that a second dwelling could be built. The board ruled a second dwelling would result in "undesirable density in the neighborhood."

A request of William R. Dezotell, 35 Cabot street, Newtonville, for variances of the lot line requirements for a dwelling on the lot between 19 and 29 Arlington street, Newton, was granted. The permission was given on condition the dwelling be not closer than 10 feet from the northwest lot line.

Also granted were petitions brought by Mariani Krock of Brookfield and Ralph J. Keating, 16 Beaconwood road, Waban.

The Krock petition was for a subdivision of the lot at 943 Commonwealth avenue, Newton Centre, for a second dwelling. It was granted on condition that the house be set back 35 feet from Commonwealth avenue; 25 feet from Commonwealth Park, West, and 15 feet from the north lot line.

Keating was granted permission to extend the porch in the front of his home to within 23 1/2 feet of the front lot line or condition that the stairs be located to the side of the house.

Robert W. Gallagher Says Newton Democrat Can Capture Senate Seat

Robert W. Gallagher of Newton, well known and highly respected businessman, declared today that the Democratic party can capture the seat in the State Senate now held by Republican Senator Donald L. Gibbs — if it nominates the right candidate in the September primary.

Gallagher, who is seeking the Democratic endorsement for the Senate, asserted that the election results in 1956 showed that a strong Newton Democrat could have won a post in the Senate.

He cited the official 1956 election records to show that Governor Furolo lost Newton by 6833 votes, but that John F. Melia of Brighton, the Democratic nominee for the State Senate, lost Newton by 11,754 votes.

"Those figures can be verified in the official election records," Gallagher stated. "They explain clearly why the Democratic party failed in 1956 to capitalize on its opportunity to take over a seat in the State Senate which is held by the Republicans."

Gallagher also pointed to a statement which appeared in The Boston Globe earlier this month quoting prominent Democrats as stating that their party could wrest away the position held by Senator Gibbs if it nominated a Newton candidate.

"I honestly and sincerely believe," Gallagher declared, "that I can win election to the State Senate if I am given the Democratic nomination. I believe, in fact, that I could have won if I had been the Democratic nominee in 1956."

Gallagher, who has devoted most of his adult lifetime to working for the Democratic party, lives at 29 Tennyson road in West Newton. He is married and the father of six children.

Active in civic and fraternal as well as political affairs, he is a member of the Elks and of the Holy Name Society of St. Bernard's Church in West Newton. In private life he is president of an oil company. In the Democratic primary two years ago, Gallagher defeated Melia 3½ to 1 in Newton, but lost to him in Brighton. This time Gallagher is in a strong drive for support in the Brighton end of the senate district.

A number of leading Newton Democrats have thrown their support behind Gallagher, and he has been endorsed by the Newton Municipal Employees' Association.

Back through the years Gallagher has worked energetically for the top nominees in the Democratic party.

For six years he was an attaché in the Massachusetts House of Representatives, obtaining a first-hand knowledge of the legislative end of the government, and for two years he was a secretary under a Democratic Governor.

He has been a worker in the Democratic ranks for the past two decades.

In 1956 he was chosen as co-chairman of the Democratic Presidential Campaign Committee in Newton.

A solid, down-to-earth Democrat, he has served as a member of the Democratic ward and city committees in Newton.

"But I am asking support for the Democratic nomination for the State Senate on one basis," Gallagher declared. "That is that I am the candidate who can win election if

Sklar's Market Employees Enjoy Barbecue-Outing

The annual barbecue-outing of Sklar's Supermarket was held at Ashby State Park on Sunday, August 24, with approximately fifty employees and their families, of the popular Newton Corner market enjoying the day in the open.

A program of sports, including novelty races and softball contests were highlights of the affair. Prizes were given to the several winners. A hearty barbecue meal was enjoyed by all. This year the outing committee was headed by Charlotte Dolan and Garz Nichols.

It is on that basis that I most respectfully urge Newton Democrats to support my candidacy in the coming primary."

Gallagher has second place on the Democrat ballot in the list of the State Senate candidates in this district.

MR. and MRS. F. WILLIAM SWAINE

Pretty Floral Background At Conza-Swaine Nuptials

On August 9, the Rev. Edward Dodge officiated at a ceremony at the West Roxbury Congregational Church which united in marriage Miss Joyce Louise Conza and F. William Swaine. The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Arnold Hugo Conza, of 36 Dwinell street, West Roxbury; the groom's parents are Mr. and Mrs. Frederick William Swaine Jr., of 56 Chaske avenue, Auburndale.

White snapdragons, carnations and gladioli formed the floral background for the ceremony during which the bride was given in marriage by her father. Her gown was of white silk peau de sheen, fashioned with short sleeves; Alencon lace trimmed the portrait neckline and waistline of the fitted bodice, and lace appliques decked the front panel of the bouffant skirt which fell to a sweep train. Her tiered veil of French tulle was caught to a wreath of orange blossoms and seed pearls, and she carried white roses and stephanotis.

Mrs. Allen Johnson of Washington was matron of honor for her sister, while Herbert Stevens Jr., of Auburndale served as best man. Ushers were Donald C. Wagner of Roslindale and Lester York Jr. of Auburndale.

The bride attended Lasell Junior College and the groom Northeastern University School of Engineering. The couple honeymooned in Bermuda.

The regular business meeting of the Naval Suburbanites Club No. 132 will be held on Tuesday evening, Sept. 2, at 8 p.m., in the recreation hall, Building 42, at 495 Summer street, Boston.

All enlisted wives of the Navy, Marines, and Coast Guard, active and retired, are cordially invited to attend. Mrs. Marie Danca, who is the membership representative in the Newton area, will gladly give any information concerning the activities of the club.

Nurse and Med Student Marry On August 23

Miss Norma Jean Creighton, of 317 Allston street, Brookline, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harold Crandall Creighton, of 7 Beacon street, Middleton, R. I., and Robert Carter Cochran, son of Dr. and Mrs. Williams Cochran, of 152 Grove street, Auburndale, were united in marriage on August 23. Rev. Eugene Waldemar Mayer officiated at the 4 o'clock ceremony at the Auburndale Congregational Church which was decorated with candelabra roses, crysanthemums and snap dragons.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a silk, satin gown fashioned with a high scalloped neckline, long sleeves of Rosepoint Chantilly lace and an Empire waist which was accented by lace panels. Her full dome skirt fell to a chapel-length train, and her French illusion veil was held in place by a matching headpiece. She carried a cascade of roses and lilies of the valley.

A reception in the Fireside room of the church followed the ceremony.

Miss Ann E. Cochran was—Miss Ann E. Creighton was maid of honor for her sister, and Mrs. John Arthur of Milton and Miss Janet Philie of Wakefield were bridesmaids.

James B. Cochran, twin brother of the groom, was best man, and ushers included John Cochran of Auburndale, Richard C. Creighton of Middleton, R. I., Malcolm Davidson of Wellesley Hills and Thomas Bosson of Amherst.

The bride was graduated from the N. E. Baptist Hospital School of Nursing. The groom prepared at Deerfield Academy for Princeton University; he is presently a student at Boston University School of Medicine. He is a member of the Prospect Club.

Joseph J. Mulhern, Jr., Opposes Admission of Red China to UN

"I am opposed to the admission of Communist China to membership in the United Nations, and I do not support in any degree any coddling or assistance to Nasser, Joseph J. Mulhern, Jr., candidate for the Democratic nomination for Congress in the 10th congressional district, declared in a television address last night.

Mulhern, former Assistant District Attorney of Suffolk County, asserted that he felt he should make his position clear on those issues.

"One of our troubles has long been too much coddling and giving in to the Communists and men such as Nasser. I think this sort of thing must stop," Mulhern declared.

Mulhern, who served as Assistant District Attorney of Suffolk County from 1952 to 1956, also lashed out at "another of my opponents who seems to feel he has the sole right to claim public service."

"I have tried to talk issues and not personalities," Mulhern said. "But I will not stand idly by when someone asserts I have no previous record of public service."

"That is not true," Mulhern asserted, "and I would ask any such person to merely take the time to speak with District Attorney Garrett H. Byrne of Suffolk County to set himself straight."

Mulhern, referring to a letter he had received from District Attorney Byrne upon his resignation after four years service as Byrne's Assistant, quoted the following paragraph written by the District Attorney: "In our fight to maintain good government you have given unsparingly of your own time, night and weekends, in carrying on our continuing battle against the evil forces that cause juvenile unrest."

Attorney Mulhern also announced that his candidacy had been endorsed by a number of ward committee members and chairmen.

He previously has been backed by nine legislators from in and around the 10th congressional district where Mulhern is standing for nomination.

Among those Representatives publicly endorsing Mulhern are the following: George Green of Roxbury, Richard Caples of Allston, James H. Kelly of Roxbury, David J. O'Connor of Roxbury, Robert Q. Crane of Brighton, Edmund V. Lane of Brighton, Joseph M. O'Loughlin and Edmund J. Donlan, both of West Roxbury, and Leo Sontag of Roxbury.

Ex-Representative Louis Nathanson of Roxbury, former Assistant District Attorney Garrett H. Byrne, Jr., Edmund J. Giblin of Jamaica Plain, Chairman of the Ward 19 Democratic Committee, Allan Sidd, Secretary of the War 12 Democratic Committee, William Keane, Chairman of the Ward 21 Democratic Committee, Oswald Thomas, Mrs. H. C. Turner, William B. Akers, Jr., Manuel V. McKenney, and Mrs. Helen Butler are other prominent Democrats who have endorsed Mulhern for Congress.

Mulhern has also been endorsed by many labor leaders, and present and former office holders in the various Veterans organizations throughout the 10th District.

Plumber's Torch Blamed for Fire In Centre Home

Fire which caused $1500 damage at the home of Charles Renker, 181 Langley road, Newton Centre, was caused by a spark from a plumber's torch, according to Fire Chief Frederick A. Perkins, Jr.

Umberto Puglia, 15 Washington street, Stoneham, who was working on the remodeling of the bathroom at the house suffered minor cuts and singed hair when he sought to extinguish the fire.

The Stoneham man pulled some sheathing from the wall in an attempt to put out the fire.

The fire department halted the blaze after it damaged walls and reached the attic.

in Newtonville's history, expressed satisfaction at the whole-hearted cooperation of the area merchants.

Sale Director Horan said that the "Back-to-School Days" idea struck a responsive chord among Newtonville businessmen and firms and that fact, coupled with the knowledge that this time of the year the problem of dressing the youngsters can cause financial jitters among a large portion of the parent population, indicates that the public would appreciate a genuine sales event of this type.

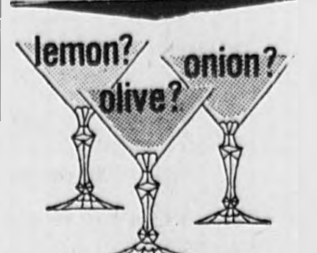

By presenting an all-out sales event with honest bargains planned and ready for shoppers, the Newtonville merchants will offer an exceptional service to the community. The event has been planned carefully, indicated by the several meetings that have been held and are being held to assure the customers comfort and satisfaction.

Wholesalers and suppliers have been contacted and every effort is being made to insure the finest merchandise at unusually reasonable prices.

Sharp-eyed mothers, long familiar with real bargains when shopping for their children, will immediately recognize the genuine values on the counters and in the display cases at Newtonville stores during "Back to School Days".

Further information will appear in The Graphic concerning the big bargain carnival, with the climax coming in a special section of advertising values appearing in the September 4th issue.

A Statistic Is Anonymous

Some very promising young men and women who have been accepted at colleges won't show up on the campus the day the scholastic year gets under way a short time hence. They won't be striding up to the platform to accept their degrees after four years have slipped by either.

The won't get to college at all. Some young fathers who have been planning for months to get in a lot of nice Indian summer afternoons on the weekend golf course when September and October rolls around won't be standing at the 19th tee on a bright Saturday afternoon.

They'll never get to the first tee again. Some pretty girls who've been worrying about fall wardrobes and trying to figure out the most flattering shade among the autumn colors won't be obliged to furrow their brows about a final decision.

They'll never get around to wearing a new fall frock. The National Safety Council, at this very minute, would be able to give you pretty close to the number, who will come into one of the above or some similar category. It has been keeping a box score on holiday weekends for a long time now. It has acquired a bit of deadly accuracy in computing the figures in advance, too.

It may be off now and then. When it errs with an over-estimate everybody seems happy. People say "Only so-many hundred were killed over the weekend."

When it errs the other way and comes up with an under-estimate, people say "Isn't it awful to see so many killed over the weekend? They should do something about it."

The highway slaughter goes on apace. Every so-called weekend holiday brings a new toll; a new collection of statistics.

Most of those persons who will lose their lives over the coming week-end will do so because someone made a mistake; someone took a chance; someone took a drink; someone became sleepy-tired or someone thought that accidents always happened to someone else.

The percentage of drivers who'll assume the responsibility that goes with that seat behind the steering wheel over the coming weekend would be horrified if you seriously suggested a little game of Russian Roulette.

Russian Roulette, you see, is a game for those shorn of the brains which the Deity equipped the thing called man.

Yet sane men, and sane women, too, will blithely take to the highways over the Labor Day weekend and many among them will check that reason behind them.

Because they'll do so — there will be unclaimed seats in college lecture halls, at factory benches and at office desks.

There'll be newly orphaned children and there'll be newly widowed women.

As far as the National Safety Council is concerned each case will be merely another statistic.

That's sort of a shocking thought, too.

For there's nothing more anonymous than a statistic — and God gave man not only the gift of reasoning but an individuality that isn't anonymous at all.

Trouble comes when man himself throws away that reasoning power.

If it happens while he's on a modern highway, he is very apt to throw away his life with it.

Political Highlights

He maintains that anyone who has failed to do so should not hope to stand up to Congressman Curtis in the final election struggle.

Mulhern and Saltonstall have disregarded that issue and have vigorously pressed their own candidacies, each arguing that he is the one who would have the best chance of unseating Curtis.

Saltonstall, who reveals that the Saltonstalls originally were Democrats, is a distant cousin of Senator Leverett Saltonstall. He has been active in numerous Democratic campaigns and has the backing of most members of the local chapter of the ADA in his bid for nomination.

Mulhern's greatest asset is his politically prominent father who is a behind-the-scenes power in the Democratic party and has been able to put many persons on line for his son.

Whichever of the three wins that fight will achieve considerable public prestige, regardless of the outcome of the final election race in November.

Four candidates, three of them from Newton, are battling for the Democratic nomination in this senatorial district. They are Robert W. Gallagher, Lawrence C. Sullivan and Roland A. Barrette, all of Newton, and John F. Melia of Brighton.

Melia, who nosed out Gallagher for the nomination two years ago, was defeated by Gibbs in the subsequent election. Gallagher has pitched his campaign for nomination on the claim that only a Newton candidate would have a real chance of upsetting Senator Gibbs.

Alderman Joseph G. Bradley of Newton is making a strong bid for the Democratic endorsement for the Governor's Council in the third councillor district where Christian A. Herter, Jr., is retiring from office. He will roll up a good vote in Newton, but his chances depend on what he can do outside his home city. Other candidates are Kenneth J. Brophy of Waltham, Edward J. Cronin of Watertown and Frederick Donovan of Brighton.

Democrats will be watching to see how big a vote Alfred R. Guzzi of Newton piles up as Democratic House candidate in the fourth Middlesex district. Guzzi and Francis R. Moore are seeking two nominations so that actually there is no contest, but Guzzi is regarded as potentially a strong candidate in the November election, and his friends will be out to make a good showing for him that will give momentum to his drive.

On the Republican side the liveliest primary clash is that between Attorney Harris A. Reynolds of Wellesley and former Registrar of Motor Vehicles Rudolph F. King for the GOP nomination in the Herter councillor district.

Some prominent GOP figures are supporting King, but a good many young Republicans are out working energetically for Reynolds.

State Federation of Labor Reviving Sales Tax Issue

The Massachusetts Federation of Labor is making the sales tax an issue in many contests for Democratic nominations for the House of Representatives.

Endorsements are being withheld by the Federation from all legislators who voted last year for the sales tax even though they have a perfect record for supporting all labor measures.

So much feeling is being aroused by this action that the Federation could wind up by antagonizing and alienating a sizeable number of Democratic House members who ordinarily go down the line for labor bills.

The situation is a politically explosive one. What the State Federation of Labor is doing is denying endorsements to a majority of the Democratic members of the House.

Since the Federation also opposes practically all Republican legislators, that will not leave it with very many firm and fast friends in the House of Representatives.

Some of the staunch supporters of labor on Beacon Hill make no secret of their bitterness and indignation over the fact that the State Federation is, in effect, turning on men who have stood with it in one legislative battle after another.

They declare openly that officials in the Federation who are undertaking to punish legislators who voted for the sales tax, may be doing a grave disservice to the cause of organized labor.

"I have voted for every labor bill that has come before the House while I have been a member," one legislator exclaimed. "Now the Federation of Labor is refusing to endorse me for reelection because I voted for the sales tax which I do not believe was a labor issue in any sense of the word. Will the agents of the Federation be back next year asking me to lead the fight for their bills?"

Several organizations affiliated with the Federation have repudiated the position it has taken and have notified the law-makers involved that they do not consider the sales tax was a labor question or that the legislators who voted for it were guilty of anti-unionism by doing so.

The Boston Central Labor Union formally adopted a resolution declaring that many of the legislators who supported the sales tax bill are sincere friends and supporters of labor and that their stand on the sales tax measure did not discredit them in the eyes of the Central Labor Union. The Brotherhood of Railway Trainmen also has endorsed many of the House members who backed the sales tax.

While Kenneth J. Kelley, legislative agent for the Federation of Labor, apparently is the real leader behind the move to discipline those Democratic legislators who disregarded his arguments and recorded themselves for the sales tax, the actual work involved is being carried out by Francis E. Lavigne, director of the Federation's Political Education Committee.

Lavigne is now in the process of mailing to union members 125,000 copies of the roll call vote in the House last year on the sales tax.

In response to questions, Lavigne said that he actually is campaigning against and seeking the defeat of about half-dozen Democratic legislators who "have voted against social legislation in which labor has great interest."

He declared that the Massachusetts Federation of Labor is attempting "to minimize the number of pro-sales tax members in both the House and the Senate."

While elaborating on that comment in answering subsequent inquiries, Lavigne asserted that the Federation is not actually campaigning against any legislators solely because they supported the sales tax bill but is withholding endorsements from them.

In addition to mailing out 125,000 copies of the House roll call on the sales tax, the Federation of Labor this week also is directing questionnaires to the 40 members of the State Senate asking their positions on the sales tax, the State withholding tax and a graduated State income tax.

Because the sales tax measure was killed in the House last year and did not reach the Senate, the Solons in the upper legislative chamber were not called upon to take a public stand either for or against the bill. Now, however, the Federation of Labor is asking that they also stand up and be counted on the sales tax.

Lavigne was asked how the action of the Federation in injecting the sales tax issue into the primary campaign will affect the Governor who made so determined a fight for a sales tax as the solution to the financial ills of the Commonwealth and its cities and towns.

"That is a bridge we will have to cross when we come to it," was Lavigne's reply.

Actually, the sales tax is not likely to be an issue in the gubernatorial campaign since Attorney General Fingold, if he were pinned down and forced to state his position on a sales tax, would be obliged to declare himself for it or risk the loss of thousands of Republican votes.

But the action of the Federation of Labor undoubtedly will make it more difficult for some Democratic legislators to achieve renomination, and in a few isolated cases it may result in the defeat of present House members.

That obviously is going to impair the relationship between the State Federation of Labor and the Democratic membership of the Legislature, especially if the Federation accomplishes the defeat of a handful of House members who have flawless records for supporting labor but who voted for the sales tax when they were convinced that it was the only answer to the financial problems which confronted the State government last year and still confront it.

Except for a few officials in the Beacon street headquarters of the Massachusetts Federation of Labor, most labor leaders make it plain that they consider it absurd to interpret a vote for the sales tax as a vote against labor.

They assert that what it really boils down to is a one-man crusade by AFL Legislative Agent Kenneth J. Kelley against the sales tax. And they agree that Kelley may harm the cause of labor in carrying his fight to its newest extreme.

Less Than 2 Weeks Remaining Before Primary Target Date

Less than two weeks now remains in which the candidates for Democratic and Republican nominations in the Sept. 9 primary may sell their cases to the voters.

While there is certain to be an outbreak of campaigning all along the political front immediately after Labor Day, present indications are that the primary turnout will be substantially smaller in some areas than is normally the case.

The only real State-wide fight being waged is that between Boston City Councillor Edward J. McCormack, Jr., and former Governor's Councillor Endicott (Chub) Peabody for the Democratic nomination for Attorney General.

That contest offers a striking contrast in campaign techniques.

Peabody has been flailing away at McCormack, leveling one barrage after another in an obvious attempt to get his drive off the ground.

McCormack's campaign is less noisy and spectacular. The nephew of Congressional Majority Leader, John W. McCormack, while working at a tremendous tempo, has been disregarding Peabody and devoting himself to promoting his own candidacy.

Peabody has the support of the ADA and the backing of an almost fanatic band of followers, who gave ample evidence of their energy and enthusiasm at the Democratic pre-primary convention. Peabody himself is a persuasive speaker.

Up to the present time, however, Peabody's campaign does not seem to have the force and momentum of McCormack's drive.

McCormack appears to be a much better campaigner than he was two years ago. There is little doubt but that he has profited by his experience in the 1956 primary and election fights and that he is probably a stronger all around candidate today than he was in his first venture into State-wide politics.

The test of whether that is so, of course, will come when the ballots are counted a week from next Tuesday night. Peabody is a sufficiently sturdy and potent candidate that a decisive victory over him would be a real accomplishment. Meanwhile, Peabody and his supporters are conceding nothing and are predicting a victory for the All American Harvard football hero.

Perhaps the most extraordinary political fight in Massachusetts is that between Woburn Mayor William G. Shaughnessy and State Treasurer John F. Kennedy for the Democratic nomination for Treasurer.

Shaughnessy is spending a large part of his time explaining to the voters that U. S. Senator John F. Kennedy and State Treasurer John F. Kennedy are two altogether different persons.

Kennedy is devoting himself to his duties as Treasurer and to politely declining the invitations he receives to attend outings, clambakes and such affairs where most politicians invariably put in an appearance. He asserts that he couldn't do justice to his job if he spent his time running around to various affairs.

Mayor Shaughnessy has come up with something new in political cards. On one side of his card he has a picture of himself along with his record and background. On the other side of the card are pictures of Senator John F. Kennedy and Treasurer John F. Kennedy to emphasize that they are not the same person.

It would seem that if the people of Massachusetts don't realize now that Senator John F. Kennedy and Treasurer John F. Kennedy are two separate persons and two quite different personalities, they're not very likely to learn it in this primary campaign.

Architect Wins 15,000-1 Gamble on New Schoolhouse

A. Bela Sziklas of West Newton has no time at all to sit down and figure out the possibilities and probabilities of the outcome of a foot race in a field of 10 or 12 equine thoroughbreds.

If he had the time — he wouldn't do so. He doesn't seem inclined to matters connected with the improvement of the breed. The electric figures on the Parimutual Boards at Suffolk Downs, Rockingham, Saratoga and elsewhere would offer him only a detached, academic interest.

That's not to say there isn't a bit of a gambler in Mr. Sziklas.

At least, he's been known to gamble on what he thinks is a sure thing—that's his own talents and ability as an architect for schools.

He took a $15,600 to $1 shot with some gentlemen up in Brookfield a few months back. He won.

It wasn't any violation of the gambling laws either. This is how he made and collected the 15,600 to 1 shot.

Seems the town of Brookfield was in the market for a new school. It's school committee, chaired by John J. Moriarty took a careful look around the field of school architects. Some people holding public office ARE a bit careful with the taxpayers' dollars these days, even if your tax bills keep saying, "Taint So."

They wanted a 10-room elementary school up in Brookfield. They wanted one that could be built for less than $300,000 and you can hardly get any of those any more.

This week the new school was dedicated.

From Chairman Moriarty, Mr. Sziklas collected $1. He also collected his fee of $15,600.

When he told the School Committee it could have a school costing less than $300,000 — mind you, one of 10 rooms with all kinds of modern specifications—the committee shook its collective heads in doubt.

Mr. Sziklas offered to bet his fee against a lonesome $1 bill that he'd be able to do it.

Brookfield got the school for a total outlay of $294,950. It will accommodate 300 pupils. That's a cost of slightly less than $1000 per pupil. The State average for new schools today runs between $1600 and $1700.

The Brookfield school is one of steel frame. The plans drawn by Mr. Sziklas call for a liberal use of glass and wood. It has two five-sided wings, each housing a group of five-sided classrooms.

According to Brookfield officials who have looked the matter up the square-foot cost of the structure is the lowest paid for any school building erected in Massachusetts in the last 10 years.

You'll have to agree Mr. Sziklas knew what he was talking about when he told the school board—"Can do."

No neophyte to the field was the West Newton man. In 1955 he was adjudged the winner of National Electrical Institute Saving is the difference between savagery and planned, civilized living.

If you're willing to settle for a grass skirt and a coconut diet, forget about saving. But if you want a home, a safe old age, education for your children or travel some day, SAVE, SAVE, SAVE. Spending foolishly gets you only the knick-knacks of life. The worthwhile things are achieved by patient, regular savings.

And you can get paid for saving at Watertown Federal. Their good compounded dividends will add a third to your savings in about 11 years.

Governor Is Responsible For Long Session, Says Rawson

Governor Furcolo's allegations that the State Senate is responsible for inaction and a late legislative session are not well founded, according to the views of State Representative George E. Rawson of Newton. Rawson cited the Governor's action in ending the withholding tax bill, twice badly beaten, to the Legislature a third time as one of the factors contributing to the late session. "Evidently," said the Newton Representative, "Governor Furcolo believes in applying to State affairs the baseball rule that the batter has not been struck out until three strikes are recorded against him."

"His (Furcolo's) proposal for a withholding tax has struck out twice in the Senate and yet, he still sent it back for a third time. I was one of those who tried in vain to kill it in the House, but we lost out 85 to 140 on a roll call."

"Now the bill has gone to the Senate, where I hope it will be killed for the third time. There is a disposition in some quarters to blame the Senate for holding up important bills and thus keeping the General Court in session until this late date — and the end is by no means in sight."

"The facts, however, are quite different. Several controversial bills, some of which call for large expenditures or bond issues have been sent in very late by the Governor's office."

"For example, The State Office Building Bill, The Old Colony Subsidy and his fantastic educational scheme involving some $111 million. Under our Constitution all bills involving State finances must originate in the House. Under the rule, the House Ways and Means Committee is required to pass on such bills, before the House can act."

"There are not enough of us who are economy-minded in this present House, so such bills go flying through in spite of our efforts and on to the Senate."

"The Senate Ways and Means Committee scrutinizes the bills carefully and has generally reduced the expenditures proposed or in many cases have reported adversely upon them."

"The Senate usually supports the recommendations of its Ways and Means Committee. The taxpayers of this Commonwealth ought to be deeply grateful to the present Senate for being on guard, heroically protecting our interests."

"Our own Senator, Donald Gibbs, has made a substantial contribution to this cause. It is a positive certainty that we are going to 'keep the fort' as best we can no matter how long the sessions last."

Attest: MONIE G. BARBAS, City Clerk.

State Champions To Compete Here At Archery Show

A State champion husband and wife team, Leo Frawley, Men's State Champion, and his wife, Phyllis, who holds the same title among distaff archers, will compete at the Newton Archers local tournament to be held on the Alberman Playground in Newtonville on Labor Day, starting at 10:15 a.m.

The Frawleys are the first man and wife team champions in the history of Bay State archery. The Newton Archers will be host to all the archery clubs in the State for the Labor Day event and will entertain many visitors from neighboring New England states.

There will be events and prizes for all classes of archery for men, women and children. In connection with the holiday event, it was announced that the new archery practice field is now open for use. It is located on the Brewer Playground in Newton Centre, across from the old field.

The public is cordially invited to attend the Labor Day tournament, which will be in progress from 10:15 a.m. to 4:30 p.m. Refreshments will be available on the field.

600 Attend Annual Read Fund Picnic

More than 600 children and parents attended the annual Read Fund Picnic, provided for in the will of the late Charles A. Read, at the Burr Playground. The program featured races, games, handwork exhibits, entertainment and refreshments. Recreation Commissioner C. Evan Johnson presented prizes and awards.

The program was announced by Guy S. Baker, former Bigelow Junior High teacher and a leader at the playground for more than 30 years. Charles Cocotas, son of Andre Cocotas, 147 Tremont street, and Barbara McCann, daughter of J. Clement McCann, 88 Sargent street, won awards as Burr's outstanding boy and girl.

The Helen Anderson Tennis trophy was won by Audrey Kasarjian; the Paul Rich trophy by Irene MacLean and the Burr playground tennis trophy by James McLaughlin. Leaders directing the picnic were William G. Grinnell, Helen Anderson, Constance Ober, Joan E. Lafford and Lavon Kasarjian.

Save Dying Jewish Community

A number of Newton residents are among the two hundred Boston women who have saved the life of a desolate village 6000 miles away from the tree-shaded streets of Newton. The village is Kfar Yehucham in the middle of Israel's Negev desert region. It is 40 miles from the ancient Biblical city of sin, Sodom and Gomorrah. Its population, 1200, is composed almost entirely of families of phosphate miners in Sodom, the modern town which stands on the site of the two ancient cities.

The miners and their families live at Kfar Yehucham because the weather at Sodom makes living there impossible. Founded in 1954, the first year and a half of the village's existence found the hardships so insurmountable that the population began leaving in droves.

There were no cultural, social or medical facilities in the town and none were expected in the near future. Everyone was ready to give up and hand Kfar Yehucham back to the desert except a band of women who compose the Women's Division of Boston's Israel Histrut Committee. They decided to build the town rather than give up on it.

Mrs. Alexander Shapiro of Newton visited the town last year and discovered that a back room was being used as the only medical facility. Mrs. Shapiro donated a modern clinic which was dedicated this summer.

A special room has been named for the late Mary Rosen, also of Newton. At the dedication of the new clinic were many New Englanders, including Mimi Kramer of Newton, daughter of the late Mrs. Rosen.

On October 27, a luncheon will be held at a Boston hotel to raise funds for the first of several projects planned for the town: a recreation facility for the town's children. In charge are Mrs. Max Landry of Newton, chairman of the Women's Division, and Mrs. Zelik Entin, chairman of the Luncheon Committee.

More Widows—There are three times more widows than widowers in the U. S.
